CONGRESS HEARS GENERAL MACARTHUR

General Up At 8, Works On Message

Mrs. M'Arthur Helps; Crowds Jam Capital; Luncheon Planned

WASHINGTON, April 19—(AP)—Rain threatened to dampen the capital's welcome to Gen Douglas MacArthur today as the former Far East commander prepared to give a joint meeting of Congress his views of how the communist menace should be met.

These views—which brought his dismissal as supreme Allied commander in the Korean fighting—came in for a final polishing after the general and Mrs. MacArthur had breakfast in their hotel suite.

Col. Sidney Huff, a member of MacArthur's staff, told reporters the general's wife was helping him with the finishing touches of the speech. Huff said he doubted the MacArthurs would receive any visitors during the morning, or at least until the speech was finished.

The MacArthurs began their momentous day in the capital by ordering orange juice and coffee, followed by a breakfast of boiled eggs.

Mrs. MacArthur phoned room service at about 8:10 for the orange juice and coffee. James Geneveges, the busboy who delivered it, told reporters that Mrs. MacArthur greeted him with "good morning. I love fresh coffee and fresh orange juice."

He said an aide to the general paid for the order and indicated the MacArthur party would order breakfast in about half an hour.

Suite Guarded

During the night, the corridor outside the MacArthur suite in the Statler Hotel was guarded by several uniformed policemen and military police. No visitors were allowed on the 12th floor location of the presidential suite.

Streets outside were roped off but during the early morning hours there were few people on the sidewalk. A light drizzle began falling about 8 o'clock.

Shortly after 8:30, Mrs. MacArthur ordered breakfast for two. It consisted of orange juice, grapefruit, two orders of two three-minute eggs, toast, jam, one tea with lemon and one coffee with cream.

John Johnson, the waiter who served breakfast, told reporters MacArthur was genial and pleasant.

He said MacArthur asked him his nationality. He replied he was a Greek, and MacArthur remarked "the Greek boys are doing very well in Korea."

He said General MacArthur told him the grapefruit was delicious—and that he hadn't had any for a long time.

Arthur MacArthur arose some time after his parents. His breakfast was orange juice, scrambled eggs, toast, jam and milk.

By mid-morning, the rain had stopped but the clouds still hung heavily.

Buses arriving from nearby Maryland and Virginia communities were packed and spectators were picking vantage points along Pennsylvania Avenue.

Seeks Vantage Point

A woman with a yellow hat, a green raincoat and a collapsible chair was one of the early arrivals. She planted the chair at the corner of Pennsylvania Avenue and 15th Street and sat down to wait although it was hours before she could hope to catch a glimpse of the MacArthurs.

The White House announcement of President Truman's engagements for the day—a routine thing given reporters each day—listed a conference of the President and Secretary of State Acheson for 12:30, the hour set for MacArthur's address.

There was no word whether Mr Truman and Secretary Acheson might watch MacArthur and hear his speech over television. Mr. Truman is not a TV fan. He has said he never watches it un-

Vaughn Greets General's Arrival In Washington

WASHINGTON, April 19—(AP) — President Truman's military aide, Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, represented him early today in welcoming Gen. Douglas MacArthur to Washington.

Vaughan snapped to a sharp salute as the deposed Far East commander stepped from his plane.

General MacArthur returned the salute and said: "I'm glad to see you, Harry."

"Glad to see you, sir," Vaughan responded. Then, pushing his way through the milling crowd of dignitaries and newsmen ahead of MacArthur, he remarked:

"Well, that was simple."

No Advance Look At Speech Asked

WASHINGTON, April 19—(AP)—The State Department said today it has made no request to Gen. Douglas MacArthur for advance look at his speech to Congress.

Technically, MacArthur comes under a presidential directive that military officers and government officials must clear with the State Department public statements bearing on foreign policy.

But Reginald P. Mitchell, clearance officer, said MacArthur had not submitted the speech and the department had not asked that he submit it.

Allies Move Forward After Seizing Dam

Reds Withdraw From Huge Hydro-electric Network at Hwachon

TOKYO, April 19 — (AP)—Thousands of Allied troops poured into the newly captured Hwachon power dam and reservoir area today on the heels of retreating Reds.

The Allies seized the huge hydro-electric grid in central Red Korea Wednesday.

Chinese Communist troops pulled back suddenly from the big power plant. They had defended it stubbornly for days.

The Reds opened the floodgates one week ago in a futile effort to trap United Nations troops in the Pukhan River gorge.

Floodgates Open

Allies found eight of the dam's 18 floodgates still open. An American officer said the machinery that operates the gates appeared unworkable. He said he couldn't understand how the Chinese had opened the gates. It seemed impossible now to close them.

The dam is 880 feet long and 250 feet high. It backs up water for 11 miles, and once was a major source of power for Seoul.

Allied troops entered the town of Hwachon at the west end of the reservoir without a fight. They captured Yanggu on the eastern end Monday.

On the western front, a tank-led Allied patrol stabbed to within two miles of Chorwon, 17 air miles inside North Korea. Then it turned back to its own lines.

Another column rumbled to the vicinity of Chigyong, southeast of Chorwon and 16 air miles inside Red Korea.

The slow, deliberate U.N. drive appeared to be nearing the line between Chorwon and Kumhwa, 14 miles northeast.

Not Enough Seats For MacArthur

WASHINGTON, April 19—(AP) — The Daughters of the American Revolution are in a dither today: Gen. Douglas MacArthur's coming to Constitution Hall and there are not enough seats to go around.

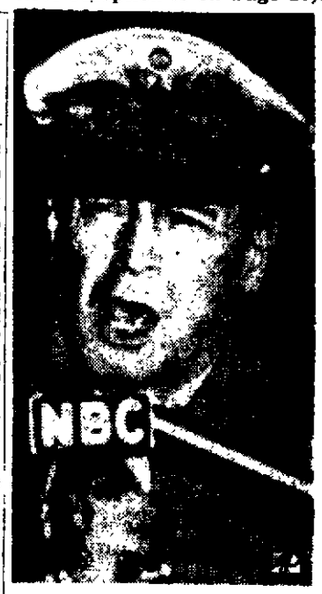
Before they got word that the husband of Sister MacArthur of the Murfreesboro, Tenn., chapter would address their convention, the D.A.R. handed out 6,000 tickets.

Fire regulations permitting only 3,800 to 4,000 persons in the historic hall posed no problem; D.A.R. knew from past experience that not all delegates and members ever, ever attend any one session.

But that was BM (before MacArthur). Everybody's expected today.

Mrs. James B. Patton, president general, cautioned the Daughters to be sure and bring their tickets with them this morning and added a warning: it might be wise not to leave the building for lunch.

The General, Mrs. MacArthur and son, Arthur, are scheduled to arrive at 3 p.m.



MacARTHUR SPEAKS. Gen. Douglas MacArthur is shown as he spoke briefly into a public address microphone at the International Airport, San Francisco, Monday night and told the crowd "I cannot tell you how good it is to be home . . ." He had arrived only a few minuters before on his way to Washington to address Congress.

MacArthur's "No Politics" Stand Lauded

Will Add Weight To Views, Political Leaders Observe

WASHINGTON, April 19—(AP)—Politicians of both parties said today Gen. Douglas MacArthur's no-politics stand was a wise move which should give his views more influence with the public and Congress.

Senator Kerr (D-Okla), who spearheaded criticism in Congress of the ousted general, said MacArthur may have removed some possible jealousy among Republicans ambitious to run for president or vice president.

MacArthur told a huge crowd in San Francisco yesterday: "I have just been asked if I intended to enter politics and my reply was No."

"I do not intend to run for any political office and I hope that my name never will be used in a political way. The only politics I have is contained in a simple phrase known well by all of you—God bless America."

MacArthur's name was formally presented before the 1948 Republican presidential convention. Despite his age—71—some had expected it would be offered again. Some MacArthur-for-president moves already have started.

But most Republicans and Democrats, who would be quoted, expressed little surprise at the general's announcement.

House Republican leader Joe Martin (Mass), who led the effort to get Congress to hear MacArthur today, said the general "previously told some of his friends that he was not interested in politics."

"He is only trying to be of genuine service to the country by pointing to its dangers," Martin added.

Senate Republican leader Wherry of Nebraska said "this should put a stop to all the snipers and hatchetmen who have been dragging General MacArthur politically into the great decision that must be made on what our national defense policy should be."

Don't Appease Reds in Asia, He Warns U.S.

WASHINGTON, April 19—(AP)—General Douglas MacArthur told Congress today the U. S. can not appease communism in Asia "without simultaneously undermining our efforts to halt it in Europe."

The Communist threat is a global one, he declared, and added:

"We can't divide our effort."

In effect, this was a direct challenge to the Truman administration's position that Europe must be the place where this country will concentrate its efforts against Communism.

It was MacArthur's disagreement with this view—his contention that greater efforts must be put into the Korean War—that led President Truman to dismiss him from his Far Eastern commands eight days ago and brought the general back to this country for a dramatic appearance before Congress.

Given 3-Minute Ovation

The five-star general was given a swelling, three-minute ovation when he came into the House chamber before a joint meeting of the House and Senate. He wore a field uniform and no medals.

At the outset, MacArthur said it was with a sense of deep humility and great calm that he occupied the rostrum.

"I do not stand here as advocate for any partisan cause, for the issues are fundamental and reach quite beyond the realm of partisan consideration," he said. "They must be resolved on the highest plane of national interest if our course is to prove sound and our future protected."

He said, too, "I address you with neither rancor nor bitterness in the fading twilight of life, with but one purpose in mind: to serve my country. (Applause.)

Only yesterday in San Francisco where he received a tumultuous welcome on his return to this country for the first time in 14 years, MacArthur had disclaimed any political aspirations.

He told the San Franciscans he hoped his name would never be used in a political way and he did not intend to run for any political office.

New Opportunity

Developing his views of what this country's Far Eastern policy should be, MacArthur told Congress by way of background that "the people of Asia found their opportunity in the war just past to throw off the shackles of colonialism and now see the dawn of new opportunity, a heretofore unfelt dignity, and the self-respect of political freedom."

"Mustering half of the earth's population, and 60 percent of its natural resources," he continued, "these peoples are rapidly consolidating a new force, both moral and material, with which to raise the living standard and the adaptation of the design of modern progress to their own distinct cultural environments."

MacArthur turned then to his strategic conceptions. He said the Pacific is a shield for all the Americas and all free lands of the Pacific Ocean area.

"We control it to the shores of Asia by a chain of islands extending in an arc from the Aleutians to the Mariannas, held by us and our free allies," he continued.

Dominate Every Port

"From this island chain we can dominate with sea and air power every Asiatic port from Vladivostok to Singapore—with sea and air power, every port, as I said, from Vladivostok to Singapore—and prevent any hostile movement into the Pacific."

Gen. MacArthur went on to say: "No amphibious force can be successful without control of the sea lanes and the air over those lanes in its avenue of advance. With naval and air supremacy and modest ground elements to defend bases, any major attack from continental Asia toward us or our friends in the Pacific would be doomed to failure.

Under such conditions, the Pacific no longer represents menacing avenues of approach for a prospective invader. It assumes, instead, the friendly aspect of a peaceful lake.

Our line of defense is a natural one and can be maintained with a minimum of military effort and expense. It envisions no attack against anyone, nor does it provide the bastions essential for offensive operations, but properly maintained, would be an invincible defense against aggression.

Must Remain Intact

The holding of this defense line in the western Pacific is entirely dependent upon holding all segments thereof, for any major breach of that line by an unfriendly power would render vulnerable to determined attack every other major segment. This is a military estimate as to which I have yet to find a military leader who will take exception. (applause)

"For that reason, I have strongly recommended in the past, as a matter of military urgency, that under no circumstances must Formosa fall under Communist control (applause). Such an eventuality would at once threaten the freedom of the Philippines and the loss of Japan might well force our western frontier back to the coast of California, Oregon and Washington. (applause).

Understanding Essential

"To understand the changes which now appear upon the Chinese mainland, one must understand the changes in Chinese character and culture over the past 50 years. China up to 50 years ago was completely non-homogenous, being compartmented into groups divided against each other. The war-making tendency was almost non-existent as they still followed the tenets of the Confucian ideal of Pacifist culture.

"At the turn of the century under the regime of efforts for greater homogenity produced the start of a nationalist urge. This was further and more successfully developed under the leadership of Chiang Kai-shek, but has been brought to its greatest fruition under the present regime to the point that it has now taken on the character of a united nationalism of increasingly dominant aggressive tendencies.

"Through the past 50 years the Chinese people have thus become militarized in their concepts and in their ideals. They now constitute excellent soldiers, with competent staffs and commanders. This has produced a new and dominant power in Asia, which, for its own purposes, is allied with Soviet Russia but which in its own concepts and methods has become aggressively imperialistic (applause) with a lust for expansion and increased power normal to this type of imperialism.

"There is little of the ideological concept either one way or another in the Chinese make-up. The standard of living is so low and the capital accumulation has been so thoroughly dissipated by war that the masses are desperate and eager to follow any leadership which seems to promise the alleviation of woeful stringencies.

I have from the beginning believed that the Chinese Communists' support of the North Korean was the dominant one. There interests are at present parallel with those of the Soviet, but I believe that the aggressiveness recently displayed not only in Korea but also in Indo-China and Tibet and pointing potential-

Nation Loses One of Ablest Statesmen

Sen. Vandenberg, 67, Dies In Sleep After Long Illness

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., April 19—(AP)—Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, one of the United States' most respected statesmen, is dead at 67.

The Michigan Republican, a foreign policy expert whose advice and leadership were sought by the heads of both major parties, died last night in his sleep after several years of illness. He had undergone several major operations in the last two years.

SENATOR VANDENBERG

Vandenberg's death at his home here meant the loss of one of the founders of the United Nations and one of Congress' foremost advocates of a bi-partisan, unified foreign policy in the Cold War with Russia.

It also undoubtedly meant a gain for the Democrats in the Senate. It falls to Michigan's Democratic governor, G. Mennen Williams, to name a successor to Vandenberg, whose distinguished career spanned 23 years in Congress.

Williams reportedly has four possibilities in mind—former U. S. Sen. Prentiss M. Brown University of Michigan law professor John Dawson, former Michigan attorney general Stephen J. Roth, and Noel P. Fox, head of the

Capt. Hardin Surprise Entry

Three Men Take Exam For Chief of Police

Police Captain Clyde Hardin was a surprise third man taking the examination for police chief given at City Hall last night by the city Civil Service Commission.

The commission announced yesterday morning that only Captains Tom Coon and Justin Cornely were to take the exams. They were the only two eligible, according to an opinion by City Solicitor John Watters.

But at the request of Mayor Harold F. Robinson, the commission allowed Hardin to take the exam, which will be graded tonight. The commission will certify the man highest in the examination for the appointment as chief.

Mayor Robinson said he asked Hardin be allowed to take the exam after a meeting of the interested parties with Common Pleas Judge Paul D. Smith Wednesday.

Law Discussed

Attending the meeting were the mayor, Safety-Service Director Ralph Forrest, City Solicitor John Watters, Robert Brown, chairman of the Civil Service Commission, and attorney for the police captains. The law regarding the appointment of police chiefs was discussed and following the meeting Mayor Robinson said Hardin was to be permitted to take the examination.

News of the decision reached at the meeting was withheld until after the examination. As late as yesterday, Robert W. Brown, head of the city Civil Service Commission, said only Coon and Cornely were scheduled to take the examination.

Mayor Robinson said he was interested in seeing all the captains take the examination "in the spirit of fair play." Captain Marion Tatham, however, declined to take the examination.

Decides Hardin Eligible

Mayor Robinson said yesterday that he had re-read the law and decided that Captain Hardin was eligible to take the examination.

The city Civil Service Commission also agreed it could not stop any of the police captains from taking the exam, Mr. Brown said. City Solicitor Watters said he did not feel Hardin could legally be prevented from taking the examination in spite of an opinion he made March 20 which in effect ruled Hardin and Tatnam ineligi-

Architect For New Hospital Is Discussed

Committee Expects Selection Within Next Few Weeks

The city-county hospital building committee today announced selection of an architect to design the hospital will be made within a few weeks.

This announcement today followed a meeting of the entire membership of the eight-man committee with its chairman, Mayor Harold F. Robinson, at the general offices of the Marion Power Shovel Co. last night.

The committee's meeting centered on the employment of an architect. Considerable progress was made, Harvey T. Gracely, president and general manager of the Marion Power Shovel Co., and a committee member, said.

Of the nine architects who have applied for the job of designing the hospital, five or six of them received favorable comments and their qualifications were thoroughly considered and discussed by the committee.

Some further consideration and study will be given before final

More Left Homeless In Midwest Floods

By The Associated Press

More families left their homes in the upper Mississippi valley region today as surging waters from the Mississippi River rolled out over lowlands in Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Plans were being made in many river towns for evacuation of families early next week. Red Cross workers, National Guardsmen and city officials prepared for the expected overflows from the big stream.

Three-Point Plan Listed For Asia

Acheson Urges "Steadfast Course" In Korea War

WASHINGTON, April 19—(AP)—The administration has laid down a three-point "program of action" designed to combat Communism in Asia and protect the Pacific islands.

The plan was outlined in part yesterday by President Truman. In filling in detail last night, Secretary of State Acheson urged the nation to "hold a steadfast course in Korea" and steer clear of any idea of extending the conflict there.

Acheson made this plea on the eve of the arrival here of Gen. Douglas MacArthur. MacArthur was relieved of his Pacific commands when the President decided the general's policy views were not in accord with his own.

Against Air Attacks

MacArthur favored air strikes at Communist installations and supply lines in Manchuria, and the use of Chinese Nationalists troops against the Chinese Reds. Mr. Truman and his advisers contended these moves might touch off World War III.

Acheson said last night, in a speech to the Women's National Press Club, that if there is any widening of the Korean fighting the Kremlin and Red China must be held responsible.

"The American people will never choose this course," he declared. "They will not fall into the trap of seeming to choose it."

Without direct criticism of the deposed Far East commander or his proposals Acheson declared that to extend the fighting would "gravely imperil world peace."

The projected Far Eastern program called for:

1. A probable defense "arrangement" among the U. S., Australia and New Zealand. Mr. Truman announced in a statement that he directed Acheson, Secretary of Defense Marshall and Ambassador John Foster Dulles to continue negotiations in this direction while working out a Japanese peace treaty.

Told Newsmen

The President told newsmen later the agreement would be modelled on the North Atlantic Pact pledge to regard an attack on one country as an attack on all.

2. Increased efforts to help Asian countries strengthen their independence and achieve relief from poverty, by such means as Marshall plan aid, technical assistance and the emergency wheat shipment to India. Acheson forecast that Congress soon will be asked to approve other measures, which he did not explain.

3. Continuing determination to punish aggression in Korea. Acheson said the Communists already have been blocked in their drive for a quick victory there.

Senate Gets Ouster Bill

COLUMBUS, O., April 19—(AP)—The Senate Judiciary Committee today sent the so-called sheriff removal bill to the Senate with a recommendation for passage.

The Rules Committee will decide when the measure shall come to a vote on the Senate floor.

The bill empowers the governor to start removal action in local courts against sheriffs, prosecutors and mayors who fail to enforce all laws, including gambling.

Common Pleas Courts would conduct the removal hearings.

The bill increases the governor's power over sheriffs and prosecutors but lessens it over mayors.

Sen. Carl D. Sheppard (R-Summit), Judiciary Committee chairman, said the bill was left the way it came over from the House of Representatives. The House passed the bill April 3 with only four votes to spare.

Phone Co. Names New President

Columbus Man To Head General Telephone Corp.

Donald C. Power of Columbus, a director and general counsel of the Ohio Associated Telephone Co. since 1932, yesterday was elected president of the General Telephone Corporation, parent corporation of Ohio Associated.

He becomes president of General Telephone Corp., June 1. He was elected at a director's meeting yesterday following the annual meeting of the corporation's stockholders in New York.

Mr. Power will succed Harold V. Bozell who reaches automatic retirement age on May 31. Mr. Bozell, who has been president since 1940, will serve as president until his retirement, after which he will continue as a director and in a consulting capacity.

Stock Plan Aproved

At the stockholders' meeting, 69 percent of the corporation's common and preferred shares were represented in person or by proxy, and of these shares 97 precent were voted in favor of the management's plan to offer 150,000 shares of common stock to the system's 18,000 employes on an installment subscribtion basis.

Mr. Power has been a director of General Telephone since last April and a director and counsel of its Ohio subsidiary since 1932. A specialist in utility law, he has served for the last three years as general rate counsel for the corporation's fifteen operating telephones in nineteen states from coast to coast.

Mr. Power also is a director of General Telephone Directory Co., Leich Electric Co. and Leich Sales Corp., all of which are also General Telephone subsidiaries. Leich Electric manufactur's telephone instruments, switchboards, dial central office equipment and other telephone equipment. The System, with total assets in excess of $306,000,000, is the nation's largest independent (non-Beil) telephone organization.

Frequent Marion Visitor

Mr Power is senior partner of Power and Griffith, attorneys at law, with offices at 50 West Broad street in Columbus. A practicing attorney in Columbus since 1926, he has handled a great many important cases, including rate cases for various utilities throughout the country. He has visited Marion frequently on business matters for the Ohio Associated Telephone Company.

Prominent in Ohio affairs for many years, he has been a member of the board of trustees of Ohio State University since 1944 and at present is chairman of the board. He is also a member of the university's athletic board. From 1922 to 1939 he was a part-time member of the faculty, first as an instructor, later as assistant professor and associate professor.

From 1939 to 1943 Mr. Power was secretary to the Governor of Ohio during the terms of John W. Bricker and prior to that served for three years as assistant attorney general and as attorney for the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio. From 1942 to 1944 he was vice chairman of the Ohio Administrative Law Commission and in 1938, 1940 and 1942 served as chairman of the Ohio Republican Campaign Committee.

Mr. Power also is a director of several companies which are not affiliated with General Telephone System. They are the Beacon Mutual Indemnity Co., the Bobb Chevrolet Co., Brown Steel Co., Star-Jaskson Mining Co., Gates, McDonald and Co., the Tracy-Wells Co., all of Columbus, and Gates, McDonald and Company, Inc., of Pittsburgh.

Directors Re-elected

At the stockholders' meeting, all directors were re-elected. They are Thomas A. Boyd, Mr. Bozell, Edwin F. Chinlund, Robert A. Gantt, George E. Jones, Morris F. LaCroix, Herbert L. Nichols, Mr. Power, G. Herbert Semler, Russell B Stearns and Gardiner Symonds. Mr. LaCroix will continue as chairman of the board.

At the organization meeting of the board, all other officers were re-elected. They are Mr. Boyd, vice president; F. E. Norris, vice president; Robert F Briggs, secretary and treasurer; Raymond E. Dolar, comptroller; Sherman C. Wilcox, assistant secretary and assistant treasurer and Ruth A. Segner, assistant secretary.

Find Nothing Missing In LaRue School

LaRue School Superintendent Paul Wise today said nothing was taken from the school building in yesterday's early morning breakin.

A complete check of the building revealed nothing missing but Mr. Wise is convinced burglars entered the building.

Meanwhile, Deputy Sheriff Malcolm Severns, who investigated the breakin, said he thinks the building was entered by a group of boys who had smacked a softball through a window. Since the window was broken, they entered the door to regain the ball, he theorized.

Mr. Wise labeled the theory a possibility but is convinced the building was ransacked. He said the height of the rear door which opened onto a fire escape was such that it would require a hard-hit ball to carry that high. He said a resident of the vicinity had heard a disturbance at the school around 4 a.m. yesterday. Cigaret ashes also were found on a chair in the building.

The breakin was discovered yesterday morning at 8:45 by eighth grade pupils reporting to their classes. Entry was gained through the second-floor door after a window had been broken and an inside hook unlatched.

General

less daughter Margaret is on the program.

At the Capitol, crowds gathered early. Police kept everyone back from the House wing entrance to be used by MacArthur. No one was permitted in the Capitol except those with special admission cards.

The general sense of the momentous nature of the whole occasion was illustrated when reporters were told the menu for a luncheon for MacArthur, given by Rep. Martin (R-Mass). They were advised it would include "fruit cup supreme," not just plain "fruit cup."

Mrs Edith Ridgley, hostess of the House restaurant, explained that "fruit cup supreme" is really something.

"It's an awful lot of trouble to prepare," she said. "You have to put a lot of colored ice in the cups."

The main dish of the menu was chicken a la king.

Top Figures Invited

Martin made public the list of guests invited to the luncheon, in the speaker's dining room. It included top figures in Congress, the District of Columbia government and some of MacArthur's associates of World War II in the Pacific.

On the list were these names:

Vice President Barkley, Senator McFarland (D-Ariz), Senator Russell (D-Ga), Senator Wherry (R-Neb), Senator Bridges (R-NH), Senator Taft (R-Ohio), Senator Millikin (R-Colo), Senator Saltonstall (R-Mass), Representatives Halleck (R-Ind), McCormack (D-Mass), Short (R-Mo), Leonard W. Hall (R-NY), Arends (R-Ill), Vinson (D-Ga), Priest (D-Tenn), and Brown (R-Ohio).

Also Martin and Speaker Sam Rayburn, General Jonathan Wainwright, General and Mrs. Patrick Hurley, Edward E. Martin, and 12 members of MacArthur's party in addition to the general, his wife and son.

Named to a formal committee to escort MacArthur into the House chamber were Senators Wherry, McFarland, Russell, Saltonstall and Bridges and Representatives McCormack, Martin, Vinson, Halleck and Brooks (D-La).

Landon Mitchell, a special Democratic employe of the House, was designated to escort Mrs. MacArthur and her son, Arthur, to their seats in the gallery.

Contract For Painting Six Bridges Let

Rome Daugherty of Glenford, O., was awarded a contract for painting six bridges on county roads over the Big Scioto River today by county commissioners.

He was awarded the contract on a low bid of $4,640. The estimated cost of the project by the county engineer was $5,600. Two other bids were received by the commissioners. They were from Dale Willey of Ostrander, $4,894.89, and S. W. Jury of Nevada, $5,110.10.

The bridge painting is part of the engineer department's annual county road improvement project.

MacArthur Views Given

ly toward the south reflects predominantly the same lust for the expansion of power which has emanated every would-be conqueror since the begininng of time (applause).

Greatest Reformation

The Japanese people since the war have undergone the greatest reformation recorded in modern history. With a commendable will, eagerness to learn, and marked capacity to understand, they have from the ashes left in war's wake erected in Japan an edifice dedicated to the supremacy of individual liberty and personal liberty, and in the ensuing process there has been created a truly representative government committed to the advance of political morality, Freedom of economic enterprise, and social justice (applause).

Politically, economically, and socially Japan is now abreast of many free nations of the earth and will not again fail the universal trust. That it may be counted to wield a profoundly beneficial influence over the course of events in Asia is attested by the magnificent manner in which the Japanese people have met the recent challenge of war, unrest and confusion surrounding them from the outside and checked communism within their own frontiers without the slightest slackening in their forward progress."

"Old Soldier Never Dies"

MacArthur concluded with a recollection of the old soldier ballad "Old soldiers never die, they just fade away."

He said he was closing out 52 years of military service with that ballad in mind.

"I now close my military career and just fade away," he said dramatically. "An old soldier who tried to do his duty as God gave him the light to see that duty."

MacArthur finished speaking at 1:10 p.m. His address lasted 36 minutes.

Lands at 12:31 a.m.

The general's silvery Constellation plane, quickly renamed the Baatan after his removal as SCAP commander, landed at Washington National Airport at 12:31 a.m., EST.

Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines brass were present to greet him in such depth that Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, the lone White House representative, was almost lost in the shoulder decorations.

Mr. Truman, determined to be pleasant about the MacArthur visitation, turned away at yesterday's news conference all direct questions about a possible meeting with the general. The President said that if the former Pacific commander wants to talk to him, the general will have to ask for the conference.

Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, the general's adviser, said later that MacArthur has received no invitation to the White House and has no plans to seek one.

Before he left San Francisco amid a thunderous ovation on the eastward flight of eight hours, seven minutes, MacArthur declared he had no political ambitions. He added he hopes his name "will never be used in a political way."

Climaxed Welcome

MacArthur's pronouncement, given almost casually, climaxed a roaring San Francisco welcome to the general, who had stepped on the American continent for the first time since 1937 when he came back to marry his present wife. Their 13 year old son, Arthur, accompanies them.

The general, his five stars gleaming on his shoulders, told a massed San Francisco crowd:

"I have just been asked if I intended to enter politics. My reply was 'no.'

"I have no political aspirations whatsoever. I do not intend to run for any political office and I hope my name will never be used in a political way."

Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the Republican floor leader who was on hand at National Airport to greet the general and his party, said MacArthur's disclaimer should remove political considerations from efforts of the general "to help us determine a global defense policy for this country and all of the free peoples of the world."

Senator Lehman (D-Lib-NY), a MacArthur critic, said he has "confidence in the general's political sincerity."

Taft Obviously Pleased

Senator Taft of Ohio, a possible 1952 Republican presidential candidate, was obviously pleased by the general's statement but declined comment.

Rep. Joe Martin of Massachusetts, the House minority leader who read the letter which contributed to the President's decision to fire MacArthur, said the general is "only trying to be of genuine service to the country in pointing out its dangers."

MacArthur's friends agreed this would be the theme of his address before Congress.

They predicted that the general will pass over without special emphasis his personal differences with the President and present a rounded exposition of his views of how to win not only the Korean war but how to stop Communist aggression in Asia.

On the eve of MacArthur's scheduled speech here, Acheson told the Women's Press Club last night that this is a time for "steadiness and cool heads."

He said confidently that the American people would never choose to extend the Korean war, declaring:

"It will be clear to the world that if there is an extension of the conflict in Korea, or if a world conflict should result from it, the responsibility will rest squarely on the Kremlin and its agents in Peiping."

Taft Backs MacArthur

Backing up MacArthur, Senator Taft told the Daughters of the American Revolution last night that the United States should use "all of our friends such as the Chinese Nationalists" to win the war against the Chinese Reds.

"This country should not hesitate to bomb Red Chinese communications, airports and armies if that becomes necessary to win the war in Korea," Taft declared.

However, Taft said it would take 1,000,000 United Nations troops to invade China. He made it clear he did not advocate any such course.

MacArthur came to Washington to a tumultuous welcome from a crowd officially estimated at 12,000 persons. Many times that number were certain to line Pennsylvania avenue for a parade through downtown Washington from the Capitol after MacArthur's speech. A ceremony was scheduled on the Washington monument grounds.

After his talk and before the parade, the general was to be the guest of Senator Martin (R-Pa) and congressional leaders of both parties at a Capitol luncheon.

Later he planned a five-minute visit to the convention of the D.A.R. of which his wife is a member. A brief visit to the meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors' convention would clear the general for what may be his biggest welcome home of all, in New York City tomorrow.

New York Gets Set

New York, which always likes a show, got ready for a ticker tape reception that might draw 5,000,000 persons into Manhattan's maw. Washington could muster not much more than a warm-hearted 1,000,000 in its welcoming competition.

The five-star general came home to Washington—where he once was President Herbert Hoover's chief of staff and led the troops which drove out bonus marchers—to be welcomed by top military men.

General Vaughan, who accompanied Mr. Truman on the latter's trip to Wake Island last fall to confer with MacArthur, crackled out a crisp salute.

Some citizens had written President Truman protesting against Vaughan's representing the White House.

The President's absence at the airport and today's ceremonies at the Capitol was expected. He also cancelled a speech before the editors' meeting so he would not compete with MacArthur.

There seemed to be a smiling determination on Mr. Truman's part to be pleasant about the whole matter of his firing of MacArthur—so long as the general was in town.

Hospital

selection of an architect. This will probably be within the next few weeks, Mr. Gracely said.

No decision has yet been reached on where the hospital will be built, he added. Several likely sites are under consideration but none has been selected yet.

Besides the chairman, Mayor Robinson, and Mr. Gracely, the committee includes J. Malcolm Strelitz, Marion attorney; George Probst of Probst Supply Co.; Wilbur Highland, an official of the Interlational Association of Machinists, A. F. L.; Clyde Hinamon, treasurer of the Marion County Fair board; James Fields, former county commissioner; Forest D. Loudenslager, Morral district farmer and Dale Lawrence, farmer, of near Marion.

Contract For Road Awarded

Contract for construction of a waterbound macadam road from Indiana avenue south to Route 95 was awarded to the U. S. Construction Co. of Upper Sandusky today by the Marion County commissioners.

The Upper Sandusky firm was awarded the contract on a bid of $4,347.69. The county engineer had estimated the cost of the project at $5,087.20.

Three other bids received were from B. H. Stevens and Sons of Marion, $4,416.39, Plumley Trucking and Excavating Co., $4,667.83, and MacNamara and Reeder of Delaware, $4,751.70.

PIANO FOR ARTHUR

WASHINGTON, April 19—(AP)—A specially tuned piano was available to Arthur MacArthur in the Statler Hotel today, if he wanted to use it. The Statler said it learned the 13-year-old son of Gen. and Mrs. MacArthur plays the piano, and so a tuner was dispatched to look over the piano in the suite the MacArthurs are occupying during their Washington visit.

Give Up Hope For Crew Of British Sub

PORTSMOUTH, England, April 19—(AP)—Long silence from the bottom of the English Channel cut all practical hope today for the rescue of 75 men entombed in the lost British submarine Affray.

The British admiralty said this morning that it had received no reports to justify hopes that the men aboard the sunken sub might still be found alive.

Admiralty experts said the submarine's oxygen supply had been enough for only 48 hours — a deadline that was passed at 8:15 p.m. Greenwich time (3:15 p.m. E.S.T.) yesterday. It was exactly two days earlier that the big submarine dived on maneuvers and mysteriously settled to the bottom in some 200 feet of water.

But the admiralty said the hunt would go on. An armada of 34 ships prowled over the channel surface this morning, searching for some sign that would pinpoint just where the Affray lay.

The search has been extended to the sea bed itself where the admiralty said it was sweeping the bottom with a dragnet of chains, wires and nets.

Area Farmers Act as Host To Danes

Two Marion district farmers are among 11 in Ohio who are playing host, employer, and adopted relative to 11 young farmers from Sweden and Denmark under a program sponsored by the Economic Cooperation Administration, The Associated Press reported today.

Lewis Gottfried Jr. of near Upper Sandusky is host to Thorvald Christian Yde of Denmark and Paul Boerger of near Marysville is host to Harald Skov Bertelsen, also of Denmark.

During the next three months the Scandinavian farmers will learn Ohio farming methods while working with their Ohio hosts. They began American farm life on Monday and will be in Ohio until the middle of July.

Nine young French farmers are scheduled to arrive in Ohio April 30 in another phase of the Economic Cooperation Administration's program.

Driver Hurt When Truck Overturns

Leonard Brady, 39, of near Morral was injured when a truck he was driving ran out of control and turned over in a ditch on State Route 231 just east of the Marion-Wyandot County Line at 4:15 p. m. yesterday, the state highway patrol reported.

The truck was owned by the Quality Packing Co. of Nevada.

Brady suffered lacerations of the scalp, abrasions of the face and left leg and a possible fracture of the lumbar vertebra.

He was removed to Marion City Hospital in a Hughes ambulance. Hospital attendants today reported his condition as "fair."

James A. Makeever, 29, of 361 Patterson street was arrested and charged with driving without a driver's license on Route 23, south of Marion, at 8:29 p.m. last night. He was cited by patrolmen to appear for a hearing in Municipal Court today.

Fingerprints Trap Mansfield Escapee, Fugitive 32 Years

SONOMA, Calif., April 19—(AP)—A Sonoma State Home attendant with a perfect 23-year work record was arrested yesterday as a fugitive of 32 years from the state reformatory at Mansfield, O., police announced.

A sheriff's deputy signed a fugitive warrant for James Earl Brown, 56, in Sonoma justice court. He was released on $2,000 bail.

His identity was discovered through routine fingerprinting of all state home employes, deputy sheriff Andrew Johansen said.

Married and with two children, Brown has been a model resident of the community for 23 years, Johansen said.

At Mansfield, reformatory officials said Brown was committed to the prison Feb. 8, 1918, on a manslaugnter conviction. Brown was serving a one to 20-year term for a death that came during a fight, an official said.

He walked away from the Mount Vernon honor camp Oct. 6, 1919.

SAFETY RECORD BROKEN

AKRON, O., April 19—(AP)—A 79-day stretch without a traffic fatality—the longest in Akron history—was broken last night when a high school student was killed by a car. Alvin Owens, 15, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Owens, was struck as he walked along a street without a sidewalk last night.

Chief Exam

ble because they had not served as captains long enough.

When Hardin filed his application for the examination April 11, the application deadline, it was refused on the grounds he was ineligible, Mr. Brown said.

However, after Mayor Robinson's request that all police captains be allowed to take the examination if they wished, the Civil Service Commission reversed its former position.

Mayor Robinson bases his opinion on the sentence in the Ohio Municipal Code which states "no person in a police or fire department shall be promoted to a position in a higher grade or rank who has not served at least 12 months in the next lower grade."

Could Delay Appointment

Mayor Robinson said that if Hardin is high man in the exam he will not be promoted until he has 12 months' service. Mayor Robinson is given 30 days, by law, in which to make the appointment after he receives the list of eligible men.

If Captain Hardin is top man, Mayor Robinson could merely wait one month, and then appoint Hardin to the post. That will be May 18. Captain Hardin will have 12 months' service as captain on May 15, he reported.

Another sentence in the same section of the code states that when a vacancy occurs then "the municipal Civil Service Commission shall, within 60 days after such vacancy, hold a competitive promotional examination."

It was on this section that Watters based his opinion of March 20, for if the exams must be given within 60 days of the vacancy, and the appointment made within 30 days after that, then the new chief would have to be named by May 2, since the vacancy occurred Feb. 1, when former Chief W. E. Marks retired. Hardin will not have served a year until May 15, and Tatham until next fall.

Time Question

There has been some question, however, whether or not the 60 days should be counted from the time of the actual vacancy, or from the time the commission was notified of the vacancy, which was on April 2. In this case, Hardin would be eligible.

The examination last night was given 78 days after the vacancy.

Trying To Comply With Law

Before giving the examination last night Mr. Brown issued the following statement:

"We are not trying to keep anyone from taking the examination, merely trying to comply with the law as we see it."

Members of the city civil service commission are appointed by the mayor for six-year terms. Mr. Brown was named commission head by Mayor Robinson Dec. 31. Other members are William Simmons, whose term will expire Dec. 31, 1952 and A. M. Hornby whose term will expire Dec. 31, 1954.

Mrs. Madeline Tatham is the commission secretary.

The examination consisted of 12 essay type questions on how the department should be operated, Mr. Brown said. The questions were made up after consultation with other cities on the type questions asked in such examinations, he said.

Editors Rap Censorship Of Press

400 Meet To Plan Defense Of Freedoms

WASHINGTON, April 19—(AP)—Four hundred editors met today to draw new battle lines in defense of freedom of the press against censorship and news suppression.

President Dwight Young of Dayton, O., cautioned the American Society of Newspaper Editors that an outcropping of "would-be dictators" in the federal, state and local governments has become a home-front menace.

At the same time, a "very strong" resolution denouncing the closure of Argentina's great newspaper La Prensa was reported being written for consideration at the close of the A.S.N.E.'s annual meeting Saturday.

Even the hero of the hour, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, was to come under the editors' scrutiny. They have invited Keyes Beech, Chicago Daily News correspondent, to describe his publicized tiff with MacArthur's Tokyo's headquarters.

MacArthur himself was expected to visit the editors this afternoon, after his address to Congress. But Young said A.S.N.E.'s invitations to the general had brought no definite acceptance, and the editors did not expect a full-dress "speech."

Correspondent Beech reported from Tokyo in January that MacArthur wanted to pull his troops from Korea and carry the war to China by sea and air blockade. Both MacArthur's headquarters and Washington denied the story. Last week, after the general was fired by President Truman, Beech disclosed that his source was MacArthur's military secretary, Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney. He will tell A.S.N.E. about it tomorrow.

Local Builders Form New Association

Five Marion home builders met last night at the Snyder Hotel and formed the Marion Home Builders' Association.

It will be a chapter of the Ohio Home Builders' Association and affiliated with the National Home Builders' Association.

Ivan Gore, Columbus contractor, past president of the Ohio Home Builders' Association and A. H. Falace of Columbus, currently executive vice president of the state association were featured speakers at last night's organization meeting.

Inducted last night as charter members of the local association were Middleton and Ballinger Contracting Co. of 958 East Church street, L. R. Amrine and Sons Co. of 508 North Main street, W. G. McPeck of 664 South Prospect street, Charles Haley of 855 Indiana avenue, A. J. Uliano of near Marion and Bon-Neff Homes of Harding Highway east.

Robert Wollett of 231 Orchard street, an employe of Bon-Neff Homes, was taken in as an associate member. Also inducted as charter members of the local organization were the following local members of the Ohio Home Builders' Association: E. L. Davis, president of the Marion Contracting Corp. and Leslie Adams of LaRue.

With its present membership of eight builders, plus one associate member, the local organization will remain a chapter despite its name as an association until its present drive to get its membership up to 15 members is completed.

James C. Neff of Bon-Neff Homes was elected chairman of the membership drive committee. A meeting to complete the membership drive will be held at his office on Harding Highway east April 27, he announced.

Rotary Club Hears Talk By Publisher

Dr. Wm. H. Eyster Delivers Address On Agriculture

Dr. William H. Eyster, managing editor of the publication, The Organic Farmer, in Emmaus, Pa., spoke to the Marion Rotary Club in its weekly luncheon meeting Tuesday at Hotel Harding on "The New Agriculture—A Permanent Agriculture."

Dr. Eyster explained to his audience that organic farming is permanent farming and made the statement that "we are all part of the soil." Therefore, he explained, we should have an interest in the soil.

He went on to say that the modern farmer is using more and more chemicals which are not good for the soil. Thus a beautiful farm today may be a dead farm tomorrow if we do not conserve the resources.

Problem

The organic farm problem, Dr. Eyster explained, is merely acting in accordance with the laws of nature. He stressed the fact that the soil is like the human body in that it has its own laws of eating and breathing and should not be disturbed by foreign matter such as acid fertilizers which do more harm than good.

Dr. Eyster told his audience that soil, like health, is very simple, in that it is not necessary to use scientific facts to raise plants when nature does all the work.

In a board of directors meeting which followed the regular program meeting, the new school bond issue was endorsed.

Guests of the club were James Carroll, of Gary, Ind., R. N. Ardrey of London, O., Gilfry Ward and Thomas Ratkowski of Chicago, Ill., Alfred L. Smith of Truro, Mass., and Rhu Taylor of Marion.

Reporter from the journalism classes of Harding High School was Dean Ludwig.

Hero's Son

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

MAC IS back.

And at his side, sharing the tremendous ovations accorded General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, is his teen-aged son, Arthur.

What is he like, this tall, dark, erect boy of 13—the son and grandson of famous American military heroes?

Born in Manila, he had been through two wars but never had seen his homeland until this week. A half-smile lit his handsome features as he stepped down the gangway of his father's plane at San Francisco for the first time on the soil of the American continent.

HAL BOYLE

What turbulent thoughts were in his young mind as he rode with his father and mother to their hotel through lanes of cheers?

Already he has seen more of the dangers of war and the perils of peacetime politics than most adults even know. He has grown up in an atmosphere of great events and great names. But he has never seen a Major League baseball game, played hookey from school—or played stick scrimmage with a battered tin can in the streets.

WHAT WILL HE think of his homeland? He won't see it with quite the naive wonder of an ordinary 13-year-old boy. Not after what he has lived through already.

Adventure has surrounded him almost since his birth.

When he was four he was on Corregidor, and the Japanese were shelling this stronghold in Manila Bay. The only birthday-present his mother could find for him was a can of Army post exchange peanuts. But when asked what he wanted to be when he grew up, he said, "A good soldier—like my father."

Soon after that he made his escape from "The Rock" with his parents by threading through Japanese minefields in a motor torpedo boat. His Chinese nurse went with him, and they flew on to Australia, where he was given a delayed birthday present — a teddy bear.

ON HIS EIGHTH birthday he received a gift perhaps symbolic of his own future—a wooden sword.

In Japan he became even more widely known than the emperor's son. He was privately tutored at the embassy, but his father had expressed a wish this year to have him attend a school in the United States. The general wanted young Arthur to grow up a normal boy, and when he broke his arm in a skiing accident MacArthur refused to permit any pictures of him in the hospital. He didn't want the boy's head to be turned by undue attention.

Young MacArthur is fond of sports, particularly football and baseball, and in Japan liked to play them with other American children. He is a skilled pianist and sometimes entertained at parties for the youngsters at the embassy in Tokyo.

IN THE LAST YEAR he attended his first dance and was confirmed in the Episcopal Church. His parents gave him a zither on his 13th birthday last Feb. 21, and young Arthur immelately picked out a popular tune on it.

What lies ahead for him? When the parades are over, he is expected to attend a secondary school in this country. And the road would then seem to lead to West Point—and a third generation MacArthur in the American army.

The boy already has the bearing of a soldier. He carries himself like his father, and few have ever had the advantage of better training for a military career.

But I know what I'd do right now if he were my boy. I'd send him to see the circus at Madison Square Garden. That's a trip that should be among his memories too!

Fear Byhalia Man May Have Fallen in Quarry

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, O., April 19—Sheriff Walter T. Galloway announced today that operations for dragging the York Center quarry for the body of Clarence Bargdill, believed by members of his family to be dead, will begin today.

Bargdill, 55, disappeared from his home near Byhalia March 31 and has not been heard from since. He is described as having light brown hair turning grey, weighing 210 pounds and standing six feet, four inches tall.

Representatives of the Bargdill family appeared before the Union County commissioners Monday and asked that funds be allowed for dragging the quarry. They said he may have accidentally fallen in the quarry or committed suicide.

The commissioners granted the request and dragging started today. Sheriff Galloway stated that Bargdill may have gone away and may not be dead.

Just In Case

By Inez Robb

SAN FRANCISCO

NOW IT CAN be told:

Ever since I came west where men are men and women wore frontier pants, too, a number of persons have asked me if New York and New Yorkers are in a swivet over the sudden demise by courtesy of the A-or H-bomb.

I have given these inquisitors a lot of fast double talk to the effect that the city and its citizens are all cool as cucumbers, calm, collected and confident.

Inez Robb

Naturally, I did not mention confident of what.

Now, however, Miss Hope Hamptom has made a bum out of me by publicly admitting that she recently removed some $300,000 worth of miscellaneous diamonds from atomic peril and the safety deposit box of a New York bank and planned to plant them in a good, secure spot, safe from nuclear fission.

Like everyone else I was worried about the atom bomb", explained Miss Hampton, a delicate golden blond midway between the ages of consent and collapse." So I brought all the stuff home from the bank to take it up to Connecticut where I'm building a house."

NOW EVERYONE knows that diamonds are a girl's best friend. Especially in these trying days of chain reaction. And a few are even hep to the fact that sparklers are also a burglar's best bet.

Anyway, before Miss Hampton (who once aspired to be an opera singer and movie star but finally settled down and married) could get the load of ice up the bucolic environs of Greenwich, Conn., darned if a burglar didn't steel some $336,000 worth of her pretties out of her Park Avenue manse.

And darned if Miss Hampton had a cent of insurance on nary diamond in tht lot. Which is prima facie evidence of just how badly New York and New Yorkers are rattled, beneath their glacial calm, by fear or the atom bomb.

BECAUSE HERE IS Miss Hampton, who is a very smart girl (ever heard of a dumb girl having that many diamonds?), being shrewd enough to get her jewels out of harm's way but forgetting all about such extraneous matters as insurance and man's unholy greed in the process.

Mark my words, Pravda and Izvestia will not be deceived! they will be able to interpret this incident at its true value: as a gauge of the atomic panic in which New Yorkers live. When a minion of Wall Street flees with uninsured diamonds toward the steppes of Connecticut, there is only one inference to be drawn the morale of the bourgeois is done bust.

Of course, Pravda and Izvestia will not be privy to the fact that as far as Miss Hampton is concerned, there is plenty more ice where the burglarized stuff came from; Tiffany and Cartier's.

MISS HAMPTON IS the niece of the late Jules Brulator, a financier who had the perspicacity to own the basic patent, as I understand it, on every bit of film used in the making of movie pictures. As a result, Mr. Brulator was loaded and his heirs and assigns after him.

Until I read that Miss Hampton had been sentimentally hoarding diamonds in safety deposit box, I was always under the impression that she simply threw the old ones away when they got dirty. And as for the $15,000 in cash the burglar carried out of her house—well, a girl has to have eating money handy in these inflated times.

Since Miss Hampton has seen fit to tell all, I shall come clean, too. This panicky New Yorker, just before heading West, emptied her safe deposit box, too.

IT CONTAINED two nuggets mined by my maternal grandfather in California in the early days. A ticket on the Irish sweeps in 1938, my wedding certificate (no marriage of mine is going up in fission if I can help it'), A U.S. Army certificate of vaccination for small pox, three shine plasters inherited from a Confederate ancestor, a card of admission to Westminster Abbey on the occasion of the coronation of George VI, a handful of speakeasy cards and ten shares of Underhanded Highbinders' Gas and Electric, which mysteriously disappeared from the big board in 1930.

My treasures have already been buried in a hole in the ground at Wild Oat, the rural slum owned by the Robbs near Flemington, N. J. I figger this way: a girl can't be too careful—come burglars or bomb, I'm fixed.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

SWEDISH intelligence officers, among whom are the least excitable and most scientific undercover operatives in the world, last summer reported to their superiors that a world-vital message had crossed the desk of Moscow's ghoulish political police chief, L. P. Beria.

For several months this mild-looking little man studied the message, not as the Soviet's secret police chief, but in his capacity as a sort of Red General Groves. For Beria is using his MVD slave labor brigades to build and develop Russia's atomic installations.

Victor Riesel

Then he summoned the Commissars who had the power to give his nuclear project priority over regular armaments production. He told them that now they were ready to call to Russia one of their subtle agents, Prof. Bruno Pontecorvo for development of a massive three point program. Beria, in effect, said:

"Prof. Pontecorvo has been working in England on cosmic rays and the H-bomb. He is ready to slip into Russia to develop 1) a new method for faster and cheaper production of atom bombs, 2) a rocket capable of accurate guidance between distant continents, and 3) organization of an air-defense system based on cosmic rays which would destroy America's ability to deliver atomic or hydrogen bombs. Further, Prof. Pontecorvo has named Oct. 1952 as the date when such a defense system could be perfected."

Soviet Secret police immediately arranged to slip Pontecorvo from an Italian vacation spot into Moscow.

PONTECORVO, an intimate of the imprisoned British Klaus Fuchs and Allan Nunn May, had been working in England on cosmic rays and H-bomb research. After sending his message to Beria saying he could get no more information out of England, he vacationed in Italy, sped to Stockholm, then to Helsinki and from there by closed car (peeled off the Soviet Embassy motor pool), to Porkkala and on to Leningrad.

Today he's working in the Soviet's cosmic ray research institute—and the British climax it all by saying tersely that "Prof. Bruno Pontecorvo, Italian-born British atomic expert, no doubt is in Russia." Somebody must have told them.

Now all this is to prove that we live by more than bread alone—we live by cloak and dagger and atomic trigger these days, and there may be a deadline on the number of such days. If Prof. Pontecorvo says he needs 18 months more to perfect the Soviet's cosmic weapons, then we have the definitive explanation for what's about to be attempted by the American Communist Party in the great coal, iron, steel, tank, gun, tool and weapon arsenal ranging through the Michigan-Ohio-Pennsylvania-Illinois sectors.

AND IT BEHOOVES every union leader and industrialist immediately to watch the Communists react to the newest Moscow directive—the command to gain time for Russia, even if it means actually supporting anti-Communist movements to win sympathy for a peace pact with the Soviet right now.

The Communist Party's National Committee met here last week and devised strategy for such an attempt to talk America into appeasing Russia into ending the current shooting war.

It was ex-convict Eugene Dennis, the party's general secretary, who laid the line down.

"The entire Communist Party must be revamped into a mobile force to woo anti-Communist workers who are Catholic, Socialists and the masses who follow the (Herbert) Hoovers and (Sen.) Tafts," he said.

Dennis added that the new drive must not be one to sell communism—in fact, the attitude on communism of those being wooed into appeasing Russia must be ignored.

ANTI-COMMUNIST VIEWS by these working people must not be fought or refuted in this drive by the party's new Peace Committee (or Commission) headed by a Fred Fine.

Instead, Communist Party activists must be sent into all right-wing unions, church groups (especially the Catholic Church), pacifist organizations and even the influential mid-west isolationist groups—to try and work with the leaders of all these forces, even against communism, so that the Communist Party's camouflaged agents can gain the confidence of the anti-Communist leaders and attempt to sell them, from the inside, an appeasement "peace policy."

The point is Prof. Pontecorvo's demand for time—which foreign experts put at 18 months.

(THIS IS THE FIRST of two pieces by Victor Riesel, outlining the Communist Party's strategy for easing our opposition to Soviet military maneuvers such as the Korean invasion. The second column will expose in detail the Party's plans for actually slowing up defense production.)

Ashley Post Host to Area Legionnaires

Nine Marion American Legion members and also representatives of the posts in LaRue and Waldo attended the spring conference of the Sixth District, American Legion, held Sunday in Ashley.

Clyde C. Keltner Post No. 518 of Ashley was the host group.

Going from Bird-McGinnis Post No. 162, of Marion were W. E. Orcutt, post commander, T. H. McKenney, Richard Moore, Don Williams, Cloyce O'Brien and William Arndt. In attendance from G. I. Post No. 584 were Marion Guliuzza, commander, Chris Lagos and J. C. Marks and Mrs. Marks.

At the morning session, held in the new Legion Home at Ashley, a district membership report was given by Victor Wick of Waldo, district vice commander, and an essay contest report was presented by W. E. Orcutt, district chairman.

The district championship basketball trophy was presented to Bird-McGinnis post, the team of the post winning the championship recently. Accepting the trophy for the post was Richard Moore, manager of the team.

When the Legionnaires convened in the afternoon in the high school gymnasium, medals were awarded to district essay contest winners. Two of the winners were from Marion, Sharon Tobin, ninth grade, and David Sherrer, tenth grade. The Sherrer boy was unable to be present to receive his medal. Both are St. Mary High School graduates.

Principal speaker was Aaron J. Halloran of Springfield, national executive committeeman and a past department commander. The summer convention of the district, when election of officers will be held, has been set for June 10 at Newark.

Love Triumphant

By ADELE GARRISON

I definitely do not like to use a typewriter other than my own, to which I am used, but I did not inform my father of that fact.

"Of course I can use your typewriter," I said, getting to my feet. "And it will save the time of two journeys to and from my study."

"That is one of my reasons for wishing you to do the work here," he said. "The other," he added with surprising loquaciousness for him, "is because I do not wish to risk the chance of Bill's finding out that you are typing the notes for my use. He is in a good mood now, but the less he knows about the mechanics of my meeting Mildred Gray, the better for my mission."

"I agree with you," I told him, and then we had reached his typewriter desk, and he was handing me cut sheets of notepaper of ordinary size, and blank envelopes to match.

"Now I will leave you to your own devices," he said, installing me in the chair with his usual old-style punctilious courtesy. "Good luck!"

He went swiftly out of the room, his movements, despite his age, are those of a much younger man, although I uneasily suspect that he compels himself to quick action, over protesting muscles and joints, and I set to work, first to arrange the facts on Bill's paper, and then to set them down in a fashion that could be read and digested without any waste of a busy man's time. I found that I had my work cut out for me, if I made good on my promise to have two copies ready in twenty minutes, but I succeeded, finishing the last of the second copy a few seconds after the knocker heralded the arrival of Dicky with Mr. "X."

I knew better than to go into the front room with the copies—my father never "lets his right hand know what the left is doing," and then his voice, raised a little, came through the door.

"Richard, will you please go into my study and get some notes from Margaret, which she has been copying for me? Tell her that I would like her to stay at my desk and finish the work there."

"Roger!" my husband replied, and when I heard him come through the door, but I did not turn to look at him, for I was checking my work and putting the two sheets of paper into the envelopes awaiting them. I finished the last as he reached my desk. He had closed the door after him, but his voice was only a murmur as I looked up at him.

"Making a deadline, darling?" he drawled.

"Or words to that effect," I whispered back, and he grinned down at me, as he saw Bill's original notes by the side of the typewriter.

"I thought he'd want copies of that," he said. "So long! I'll brief you on the doings, if I'm permitted to sit in on the interview, which I doubt."

He took the two envelopes which I handed him, and went back to the door with his easy loping walk—he never appears to hurry, but always makes wonderful time. Then the door closed behind him, and I went back to my work of making two more copies of Bill's work.

The murmur of voices came through the door as I worked, but I could distinguish no words. Then, just as I finished the last page of my fourth copy, Dicky entered the room.

"Dad wants to know if you've finished the other two copies," he said.

Still Married to First Husband, Court Rules

COLUMBUS, April 19—(AP)—Mrs. Patricia Laursen Jelm, Akron socialite, still is married to her first husband, the Ohio Supreme Court ruled yesterday.

The husband, Charles R. Jelm of Akron, contested a divorce decree on grounds it was obtained by fraud. The Supreme Court affirmed lower court decisions that threw out the divorce.

Mrs. Jelm, the mother of four children, got an uncontested decree March 6, 1948. The following October Jelm asked the decree be set aside, saying his wife led him to believe she had dropped her suit and even lived with him after the divorce was granted.

Mrs. Jelm later married Jack Hebig.

Bowling Green Grange Honors New Members

Special to The Star

LARUE, April 19 — A basket supper honoring the new members of Bowling Green Grange was held Friday night by the Grange at the hall. During the business meeting a communication from the state master was read stating that the Albert S. Goss Memorial Membership Campaign would be extended to June 30.

The charter was draped in honor of W. G. Vandenbark of Zanesville, former State Grange officer. The master appointed Albert Amstutz, steward, and Mrs. Willis Bowles, Ceres, to replace officers who have resigned their posts. The Grange was asked to head the Cancer Drive in this section and Mrs. Charles Allen was named chairman of the project.

The program was in charge of the Youth chairman, Mrs. Marion Emptage. Roll call was an April fool joke. Mrs. Delbert Greenwood gave the history of the origin of the month of April, followed by group singing. A contest, featuring one-minute speeches was conducted. W. E. Selanders recited the poem "Sportsman's Prayer" and A. W. Jones gave comments on his recent trip to Arizona. Reports on the short course held in Columbus March 29-30 were given by Mrs. Emptage and Mrs. Greenwood. Other members who attended were Mrs. C. J. Grappy, Mrs. Cletus Murphy, and Mrs. John Olsen.

At the April 27 meeting a conservation program will be given. Roll call for the ladies will be "Short Cuts in House Cleaning" and for the men, "Short Cuts in Farming." Each family is requested to bring a pie.

TO ATTEND REUNION

The 166th Infantry Association will hold its annual spring reunion at the American Legion Post at Lancaster, Saturday, April 28. The affair is scheduled to start at 7:30 p.m. with a dinner at 10 p.m. followed by dancing until 2 a.m.

He was elected last year for a five-year term.

Green Camp Board Sets Open Meeting

Special to The Star

GREEN CAMP, April 19—To acquaint voters in the Green Camp School District of the necessity for the erection of a new grade school building, cafeteria, gymanisum and auditorium, a meeting has been called for May 7 in the school gym.

This action was taken Saturday after the second meeting of a representative group of citizens and the board of education held at the school. John Mills, president of the local P.-T.A., issued the call for the special meeting.

Ralph Bentley, Mr. Mills, N. C. Roettger, Milton S. Ruth and George Reynolds were members of a committee who recently visited the state department of education and the taxation department concerning the erection of a building. They reported to the meeting held Saturday.

Mr. Mills announced circulars would be distributed to every family in the district and that arrangements would be made to have the announcement made in all lodges, churches and societies.

Further plans, facts and figures will be discussed by the board of eductaion at their May 1 meeting.

Tree crops that play the most important roles in world commerce are rubber, coffee, tea, cacao, coconut, oil palms, bananas, fruit and nuts.

Sokolsky

we refuse to accept the forces which Chiang Kai-shek can give us? He is still an ally as he has been during the whole period of the war. Why should he be isolated? Prior to June 25, the Nationalists attacked the mainland, but since that date, our Seventh Fleet has been based on Formosa to keep Nationalist China inactive while Americans are being killed.

5. The British seem to be managing the American foreign policy. Why? Why must our policy be designed to support British purposes?

6. General MacArthur, it is true, was a field commander in a war. But he was also a statesman engaged in the administration of a country, Japan. In this position, he gave evidence of being one of the most brilliant administrators in history. Never before has a conqueror come among a defeated people and so won their affections that they worshipped him.

IS IT NOT POSSIBLE that Soviet China, through Great Britain and India, maneuvered this situation with the object of keeping MacArthur away from the conferences concerning peace with Japan?

7. Why is it that on the very same day that the news was published of the President's dismissal of MacArthur, the story was released from London that Great Britain demanded that Soviet China be given a seat at the Japanese treaty conference, and the minister for external affairs of Canada, Lester Bowles Pearson, announced that Canada would henceforth follow her own foreign policy without regard to the United States?

What was the purpose of three simultaneous stories?

8. Why did the President declassify certain documents to attempt to prove his case against Douglas MacArthur but did not declassify other documents, including the Wedemeyer report on Korea written in 1947 and still in the dead file? Does the President believe that Congress can long ignore the use of national data for private and political purposes?

9. HOW DOES IT happen that the Democratic senators are now putting the blame for the MacArthur dismissal on the Joint Chiefs of Staff? Are we then to assume that President Truman acted on their recommendation? What is the record?

10. How does it happen that General Eisenhower is permitted to deal with political questions in Europe while General MacArthur was not permitted to deal with political questions in Asia? After all, a commander-in-the-field, the administrator of Japan, the representative of the United Nations and the Far Eastern commission is a political as much as a military official.

11. For what reason did President Truman issue the directive of Dec. 6 which sealed the mouth of every military man unless that person echoed the President? That directive is as binding on General Eisenhower as it was upon General MacArthur. How then can General Eisenhower be believed with regard to anything he says after Dec. 6?

Here are a few issues that need airing.

In Loving Memory

★Of Paul Lust who passed away one year ago today, April 19.

Your end was sudden, dear
You made us weep and cry,
But, oh, the saddest part of all,
You never said goodbye.
He little thought when leaving home,
He would return no more,
That he in death would sleep alone,
And leave us here to mourn.
Tears may wipe out many things,
But this they wipe out never,
The memory of the happy days
That we all spent together.
God gave us strength to fight it,
And courage to bear the blow.
But what it means to lose him,
No one will ever know.
Friends may think that we forget him
When they see us smile.
But little do they know the sorrow
That is hid behind the smile.

Mrs. Paul Lust and family,
Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lust,
Waltc. Lust,
Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Denman.

Director is William Ireland, head of the department of theatre at the college.

Based on folk lore, "The Glowing Bird" has been presented to more than 1,750 audiences throughout this country and Canada, and has become a classic in the marionette theatre. The story is told by a big bear who "talks" throughout the play, who delights the young and old with his antics.

Two performances will be given for the showing. The first is to be a 9:30 a. m. and the second at noon. Tickets are limited to 1,000 seats for each performance and may be obtained from pupils at the schools or the box office of the Palace Theater, beginning April 25. Tickets will go on sale in county schools on April 23.

The two other shows, sponsored by the Guild were "Indian Captive" given last November and "Wizard of Oz" given in March. Both shows played to an overflow audience.

Committees for the Guild announced today that 2,000 seats will be available for the performances.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Serious Disease of the Skin

The most common form of tuberculosis of the skin is known as lupus vulgaris. Formerly, it was also one of the most terrible forms of this dread disease, since it could often be disfiguring or even mutilating and treatment was by no means sure.

During the past few years, however, new treatments have been worked out which even to seasoned physicians seem almost miraculous in their effects.

Infection of the skin with tuberculosis germs may occur either from the outside or from a tuberculosis infection elsewhere in the body. The face, and particularly the nose, is affected in about three-fourths of all cases, with women the most frequent sufferers. The condition starts with the appearance of one or more tiny red spots. These slowly develop into small lumps which stand out as yellow-brown spots against the normal colored skin and which feel soft and jelly-like to the touch.

The condition slowly becomes worse. There may be some healing with scarring. The infection may spread to the underlying tissues, or infection with other germs may occur. The infection may also affect the lining membrane in the nose or mouth. Hence, it is important that the condition be diagnosed promptly and treated so as to stop its progress.

Many types of treatment were formerly used for this condition, such as applying caustic substances or freezing with carbon dioxide snow. However, until recently, the best results were obtained by exposing the skin to ultraviolet rays. Now, the one most helpful is the use of vitamin treatment which seems to be D, particularly in the form of vitamin D, or calciferol.

It would appear that with this treatment six or seven out of ten cases can be cured. The dosage employed is quite large. Since reactions to this vitamin in large doses may occur, the treatment must be carefully regulated by the physician. Symptoms of reaction include loss of appetite, thirst, frequent emptying of the bladder, headache, dizziness, and loss of weight.

Large doses of vitamin D will increase the amount of calcium in the blood. Hence, tests for the amount of calcium present should be made from time to time during treatment and if any abnormal increase occurs the treatment may have to be stopped for the time being. Unfortunately, this treatment cannot be used in patients who also have hardening of the arteries or kidney disease. Sometimes large doses of vitamin D may also cause a tuberculous lung infection of long duration to become more active.

More recently, lupus vulgaris has been treated with streptomycin, one of the antibiotic drugs, together with the calciferol. It seems that the two together have a better effect than one alone.

White, Logan Appointed

Former Marion Men Promoted by Erie

Two former officials of the Erie Railroad's Kent Division headquarters here were among six Erie officials whose promotions were announced today at Cleveland by Milton G. McInnis, vice president of operations and maintenance, himself a former Erie employe here.

They were Garret C. White, 44, now of Jersey City and one of two general managers of the road, who was appointed an assistant vice president, and Donald A. Logan, trainmaster at Jersey City who was promoted to assistant superintendent there. He was general foreman of track crews here in 1932.

Trainmaster Here

Mr. White was trainmaster here in 1940. He has been assigned to the Erie's headquarters in Cleveland.

The change heads a series of promotions in a realignment of the operations and maintenance department following the death of Vice President Raymond C. Randall.

The other advancements include Adolph E. Kriesien, 49, of Youngstown from general manager to assistant vice president; Stanley F. McGranahan, from assistant general manager, Jersey City, to general manager, Western District, Youngstown; Thomas J. Sanok, superintendent at Salamanca, N. Y., to assistant general manager, Jersey City; Thomas E. McGinnis, assistant superintendent, Jersey City, to superintendent, Salamanca, and Donald A. Logan, trainmaster, Jersey City to assistant superintendent there.

Mr. White, who started as a stenographer with the Erie in Jersey City in 1925, advanced through various clerical positions in Youngstown, Salamanca, and Huntington, Ind., before he was named inspector of transportation at Cleveland in 1937. He became inspector of operation in 1938.

He was promoted to trainmaster for the Erie's sidelines at Jersey City in 1939 and served successively as trainmaster at Port Jervis, N. Y., and Marion before becoming superintendent of the Buffalo and Rochester divisions in 1941. Following more than a year of Army service, he returned to the Erie in 1945 and was assigned as superintendent of the New York division in Jersey City, advanced to assistant general manager there in 1948, and became general manager of the Eastern Division, Dec. 1, 1949.

Foreman Here In 1932

Mr. Logan started with the Erie in 1930 as a transitman in an engineering crew at Meadville, Pa., advanced through a series of track crew jobs there, and became general foreman at Marion, O., in 1932. He was transferred in the same capacity to Buffalo in 1933 and became supervisor at Kent, O., in 1934. He was promoted to assistant division engineer at Youngstown in 1936 and became inspector of operation at Cleveland in 1939. Beginning in 1940, Mr. Logan was assigned successively as trainmaster at Hornell, N. Y., Susquehanna, Pa., Dunmore, Pa., and came here in 1946.

An evening performance will be given Friday in the school auditorium at 8 p.m.

Included in the cast of the comedy were Dick Mull, Paul Clingenpeel, Gilbert Herr, Joan Kreuter, Joan Bailey, Ray Winters and Kenny Kirkpatrick. Prompters were Edna McWherter and Natalie Newell.

The mystery play cast was Marcia McElderry, Karen Syster, Rosemary Roddy, Rosemary Baxter, Carol Bachman, Earl McWherter, Lewis Thompson and Jim Kratzer. Prompters were Marcia Weinbaum and Sara Meister.

MUSIC CLUB REPORT

Through misunderstanding of a report by Mrs. Harry J. Mautz of Marion, state counselor, given at a conference of junior music clubs of Ohio session in Columbus Sunday, a news item concerning the meeting which appeared in The Star listed 75,000 members in the state. Mrs. Mautz named that figure as the national membership. There are 3,000 members in Ohio. Of the 98 junior groups in the state, Mrs. Mautz said that Marion's representation is second largest, not first, as erroneously quoted in the writeup.

Police Report One Accident

A minor traffic accident and two arrests were reported today by city police.

At 2:56 p.m. yesterday a light truck driven by Joseph Martin Gonzalez, 49, of near Marion collided with a car owned by Edward J. Hiemeise, 27, of 191 East George street parked in front of 619 Silver street. Minor damage resulted, police reported.

Harry Gilmore, 63, of Akron was arrested at 9:53 a.m. yesterday at the Union Depot by Captain H. C. Smith of the Erie Railroad police force and charged with trespassing.

Arraigned yesterday in Municipal Court he pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and costs. Upon failure to pay the fine he was committed to the Marion County jail.

Carl Eugene Miller, 35, of 434 Scranton avenue and Charles Emil Campbell, 36, of 136 Union street were arrested at 4:01 p.m. yesterday on Fairground street on a charge of intoxication and held for investigation. Both were lodged in City Prison pending the filing of possible additional charges against them. Police reported the men were attempting to break into a parked car.

Miller had a .38 caliber revolver in his pocket when apprehended by police.

Gov't Acts To Bolster Case Against Brehm

Children of Ohio Legislator's Former Employe Testify

WASHINGTON, April 19—(AP)—The government called two grown children of Mrs. Clara Soliday into federal court today to bolster its charges that Rep. Walter E. Brehm (R-Ohio) received illegal campaign contributions from their mother.

Scheduled to testify for the prosecution in Brehm's trial are Ray Soliday, Mrs. Soliday's son, and Mrs. Margaret Hiser, her daughter.

Brehm, now serving his fifth consecutive term in Congress, is charged with unlawfully accepting $1,380 in campaign contributions from Mrs. Soliday and Mrs. Emma S. Craven of Washington while they worked in his office in 1947 and 1948. He has pleaded innocent.

3 Hours on Stand

Mrs. Soliday, a small, gray woman, spent nearly three hours on the witness stand yesterday.

She testified she went to work for Brehm in January 1945 and that she turned back to him part of her salary every month for the next three years, until she left his employ in January, 1948. She said she did not know what the money was used for.

Mrs. Soliday said she felt "from the first" it was wrong to pay back part of her salary to Brehm, "but that was the stipulation I was hired under."

Defense counsel Leo A. Rover asked Judge Burnita S. Matthews to rule out Mrs. Soliday's testimony on grounds she could not state that the money she turned back to Brehm was used for political purposes, as charged in the indictment.

"Unless she gave the money for political purposes her testimony is not relevant here," Rover argued.

Motion Overruled

Ray Baker, an assistant U. S. Attorney, told the court the government would produce evidence later to show that Brehm did use the money for political purposes. Judge Matthews denied Rover's motion.

In cross-examination, Rover sought to establish that Mell Underwood, Jr., Brehm's unsuccessful Democratic opponent in the last election, played an important role in the signing by Mrs. Soliday of an affidavit dealing with the alleged contributions.

Action on Extending Crime Probe Delayed

WASHINGTON, April 19—(AP)—Blocked once, Senator Wiley (R-Wis) put off until next Tuesday an attempt to persuade the Senate to vote on extension of its crime investigating committee. The committee is due to expire April 30. Wiley has offered a resolution to continue it until next Jan. 15.

Democratic leader McFarland of Arizona refused yesterday to agree to Wiley's request that the Senate take up the resolution on Tuesday.

McFarland said he was unwilling to fix a time for considering the resolution until he consulted the Senate's Democratic policy committee about the legislative program.

Tribe Hurlers Get Club Off To Fast Start

Through the SPORTSCOPE with A.L. McCLAIN

FOR SENTIMENTAL REASONS. Where does sentiment begin and end in sports? That's a question players, fans, and sports writers alike have been asking for a number of seasons.

Latest to delve into the matter was a writer in a recent edition of Look Magazine. The author used the satirical approach—which is to say he set out for third base and went by way of first and second—but in the end he reached his point.

DON'T DO IT, KINER. The article dealt with the sentimental oldtimers who look upon Ralph Kiner, Pittsburgh slugger, as a villain for his hard-trying effort to break Babe Ruth's record of hitting 60 homeruns in one season.

Although the article is ludicrous in poking fun at those who insist, "Let Ruth's record stand," it is an opinion held by enough sport followers to warrant a poll.

NOTHING OWED. What these "Ruthians" fail to take into consideration is that literally Kiner owes the Bambino nothing. Kiner came along after the great Yankee slugger and since he bats right while Ruth stood on the other side of the plate it is safe to say that Kiner has copied none of the other's hitting traits.

The Pittsburgh fence buster received some tips on batting when Hank Greenburg was finishing out his days in the smoky city and we venture to say that Hank would like to see his protege exceed his record of 58 in one season—as long as Kiner is batting against National League hurlers.

SERIES MEMORIES. One of the best examples of sentiment was seen in the fourth game of the World Series between the Yanks and Dodgers in 1947. It will be remembered Floyd Bevens, Yank hurler, had a no-hitter in the ninth when Cookie Lavagetto, pinch-hitter, slashed a drive to right. Tommy Hendrich tried to make the catch instead of playing the drive safely off the way and thereby preventing the winning run from scoring.

The fact that the Yanks were leading in the series 3-0 undoubtedly influenced Hendrich's split decision.

GOODBYE NO-HITTER. Another controversy some several years ago when Tommy Bridges, now a Toledo Mud Hen coach, was pitching for the Tigers against Washington. With two out in the ninth, Bridges had a no-hitter when a pinch batter hit a single. The next batter was an easy out.

Detroit fans were critical against the Washington manager, Bucky Harris, pointing out that Detroit was leading by a comfortable margin and the Nats had little chance to win the game. It is significant that Bridges and the other Tigers made no complaint.

RUN FASTER, STRETCH FURTHER. With all due respects to the memory of Babe Ruth, we wish Kiner or any other present day hitter the best of luck in their try at the Great One's record.

Like the F. Scott Fitzgerald novel we hope that "some day we will run faster, stretch further"—and hit more homeruns.

RAINS CAME. John Short, Star sports writer, and Earl Gamble were discussing baseball at lunch yesterday when John said, in reference to a pitcher, "He'll probably go to the showers by the fourth inning."

Just then an overhead water pipe on the second floor broke and water spilled down below upon Prognosticator John, while the lunch counter nearby played "Rainbows From Heaven."

Mansfield To Begin Relays

67 Schools From 3 States To Compete

MANSFIELD, O., April 19—(AP)—Sixty-seven schools, from three states, represented by 890 athletes, make up the entry list for the 20th Mansfield Relays scheduled tomorrow and Saturday.

The 18-event program will feature six of Ohio's scholastic champions. And the team title looks like a toss-up between the host Tygers—victors the last two years—Columbus Central, and Mt. Lebanon, Pa., winner of the West Virginia-Ohio-Pennsylvania Tri-state meet.

Six Michigan high schools and four from Pennsylvania joined 57 Buckeye squads to give the colorful relays their biggest post-war entry. Swarthmore, Pa., is sending two boys—a shot-discus star and a mile runner—477 miles to the affair.

Only one event, the four-mile relay, is on tap Friday. Cleveland Collinwood, last year's victor in that marathon, will not defend the laurels because of some intra-squad difficulty which caused withdrawal of the team.

Preliminaries in some of the other events are slated Saturday morning, with the finals starting at 2 p.m. following an "Olympic Parade" of the contestants.

Say Chandler Set To Resign

NEW YORK, April 19—(AP)—Happy Chandler, lame duck baseball commissioner, may resign within a week, The Associated Press has learned.

Twice rebuffed by the club owners who failed to renew his contract in December and March, Chandler is said to be preparing to run for governor of Kentucky.

If Chandler resigns baseball would be faced by the executive council until his successor is named. The council includes the eight league presidents—Will Harridge of the American and Ford Frick of the National—and seven club presidents—Tom Yawkey of the Boston Red Sox and Walter O'Malley of Cincinnati.

Chandler is to have been in New York Tuesday to hand out World Series rings and watches to the New York Yankees. Instead he went to Washington, visiting members of the U. S. Senate. He then left for his home in Versailles, Ky.

Ford Frick, second commissioner of baseball was a senator from Kentucky.

WILDCAT WITH SPECTACLES

LEXINGTON, Ky.—(AP)—Paul Lansaw, University of Kentucky basketball player, is the only member of the squad to wear eye glasses. A transfer from Cornell, Lansaw is 23 years old and that makes him the oldest on the Wildcat team.

Yanks Again Find Bosox Hitters Feeble

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Early Wynn and Bob Lemon sound warning that Cleveland will be a tough nut to crack in the American League.

Wynn's four-hitter in a 10-inning battle at Detroit yesterday, following Lemon's gaudy two-hit win opening day, emphasize the class of the Indians pitching staff. And Bobby Feller hasn't worked yet.

The big four of Lemon, Wynn, Feller and Mike Garcia rank with the best. All Freshman Manager Al Lopez needs is a solid lefthander.

Wynn and Jim Hegan, his catcher, teamed up on the Tigers in yesterday's 4-2 victory. Hegan took care of the hitting with a homer and three singles while Wynn charmed Detroit.

Hegan Homers

After Hegan's homer tied the score in the ninth, the Tribe knocked out Dizzy Trout in the 10th. Ray Boone singled home Larry Doby with the winning run and Bob Kennedy scored the extra run on Pat Mullin's error.

Red Rolfe became so excited about a call by Umpire Charlie Berry that he was put out of the game for the second time in his three years as manager.

Pitching also was the big story with the defending champion New York Yankees. Eddie Lopat taunted the red-laced Boston Red Sox with 6 1/3 no-hit innings and beat them, 6-1, allowing only two singles. Following Vic Raschi's opening day shutout, this deflated Boston stock several points.

Harry Taylor, the $75,000 buy from the Brooklyn farm chain, crumbled in a four-run fifth inning. He did all right earlier but the Red Sox hitters let him down flat, just as they did Bill Wight Tuesday. Boston has only one run to show for two Yankee games.

It looked like Lopat was on his way to a no-hitter until Ted Williams broke the spell by singling with one out in the seventh. Bobby Doerr's single scoring Ted was the only other hit.

Mickey Mantle, the 19-year-old rookie phenom, came through with a two-run single off Taylor in the fifth, his only hit. Lopat kept that rally alive with a single and hit a two-run homer off reliefer Ellis Kinder in the eighth.

Nats Win

The Washington Senators kept step with the Yanks and Indians by making it two in a row over Philadelphia, 6-4, in a night game. Trailing 4-3 going into the ninth, the Senators unloaded on Lou Brissies, who walked two and gave up a two-run triple to Irv Noren and a double to Mickey Vernon before he was replaced by Hank Wyse.

Bob Kuzava was the winner. Only 2,055 watched.

In fact the entire major league program of five games drew a total of only 29,661, with 15,145 of them at the Yankee Stadium.

Jim Konstanty, key to the Phillies repeat pennant hopes, failed his first test at Brooklyn. Making his first relief appearance of 1951 with one on and nobody out in the ninth, Konstanty let the game wriggle away on Duke Snider's tying triple and Jackie Robinson's winning single, 4-3.

With the score tied at 2-2 in the ninth, Willie Jones' second homer of the day had given the Phils the edge over Preacher Roe.

Two For Jones

Jones' two homers and one by Dick Sisler provided all the Phil runs.

Leo Durocher's pennant time table was disrupted at Boston when Sam Jethroe homered with two on in the ninth for an 8-5 win over his New York Giants. Jim Wilson was the winner.

The loss went to Al Gettel, third of four Giant pitchers.

As the western teams in the National were not scheduled, the even split of the east in the first two days left Pittsburgh out front with a 2-0 record.

A Patriots Day doubleheader between the Giants and Braves at Boston features today's program.

Pont Looking Better Than Ever at Miami

OXFORD, April 19 — Johnny Pont, just about as neat a halfback the past two seasons as any coach could want, is looking better than ever in Miami University's spring football drills.

The deceptive 167-pounder from Canton, O., has been doing things in spring scrimmage that indicate he'll be in full command of the situation next autumn. Those who have watched his career say he's not only fully recovered from the injuries that slowed him last season, but that he's running faster and slicker than ever. In scrimmage against players who know his plays and know his tricks, he has been bouncing, dodging and sidestepping out of reach and going the full distance four and five times per session.

HODGES SCORES IN CLOSE PLAY. Gil Hodges, Brooklyn Dodgers first baseman, slides safely into home plate on Peewee Reese's single to center field in second inning of game with Philadelphia Phillies in Ebbets Field. Ball arrives too late for Catcher Andy Seminick straddling the plate. Umpire Dusty Boggess calls the play as Brooklyn Third Baseman Everett Bridges (9) roots his teammate home.

BOWLING RESULTS

Jerry Stephenson posted a 242-635 for top laurels in the Craftsman League Tuesday night at the Marion Recreation Center. Paul Seiter paced the Automotive League with a 211-587. C. McCrery's 233 and Bob Hastings' 607 took honors in the Sportsman's League at the Palace alleys while Casey Williams' 635 and Bob Wells' 237 headed Marion Power Shovel keglers. Seek Gov't OK To Limit TV Football

WASHINGTON, April 19—(AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association hopes to get government approval today for the skimpy television fare it plans to serve the nation's football fans this fall.

The 12-man N.C.A.A. television committee will take up the program—agreed on here yesterday—with the Justice Department's anti-trust experts to make sure it's legal.

Where there were usually several games on the video screen to choose from last fall, this season under the N.C.A.A. program, there will be only one game each Saturday. The game is to be selected by the sponsor or sponsors. On one Saturday there will be a football blackout to test television's effect on attendance.

If the network or all the networks handle games, then one game probably will be seen. If they don't, then a different game might be seen in each area—the area to be defined by the N.C.A.A.

There is one slight hitch in the selection of the games by the sponsor. A provision of the program says one school, Notre Dame for example, can be seen only twice during the season on TV—once while playing at home and once while on the road.

Tom Hamilton, Pitt's athletic director, said the program was drawn up as a move to save the life of college sports in the face of declining gate receipts. "And remember," he said, "that some 72 percent of our athletic programs, including our intramurals, depends on football receipts."

Reds May Face Changes Sewell Warns Players

CHICAGO, April 19—(AP)—Manager Luke Sewell says he isn't worried over his Cincinnati Reds' dismal start in the National League pennant race—but if the boys don't improve quickly there will be some changes made.

Two straight defeats and seven errors have been chalked up against the Reds in their first pair of games.

During yesterday's off-day Sewell expressed belief some warm weather would cure the Redleg ailments but he added.

"However, I'm sure of this—if several of the boys in my starting lineup don't show a big improvement in their defensive play in the next few games, they'll find themselves on the bench.

"I've got boys there now that I know can field. I don't intend to sit back and watch them kick game after game down the drain for many more days."

Sewell said Willie Ramsdell would be on the mound today when the Reds resume warfare with the Chicago Cubs. He was expected to be opposed by Paul Minner.

Sewell insisted the Cincinnati pitching had not been "too bad" in the first two games.

Day Ties Record As Harding Tops Fostoria in Track

Danny Day, Harding speedster, tied a Harding record for the 100-yard dash yesterday at Fostoria as the Prexies rolled over the Redmen, 95 2/3-22 1/3.

Day completed the dash in 10.1 seconds to tie the best record of any former Harding trackster. Harding took 12 first places in the meet and rolled to their highest total of the year by scoring several seconds and thirds. Day was the high individual scorer with 16¾ points.

Paul Ludwig added 14¼ points to the Harding total but lost his first high hurdle event of the year. Big Paul led most of the way but hit the eighth hurdle and was unable to recover stride. Perry of Fostoria won the event in a flat 16 seconds.

Record Firsts

Dick Bender, Gene Winters, Paul Geissler and John Ashworth also posted first for the locals.

Coach Ken Somerlot will take a four-mile relay team to Mansfield Friday afternoon and 14 men will participate in the main part of the Mansfield Relays Saturday.

The locals will go after their fourth straight dual meet win next Tuesday afternoon when they entertain Columbus West at Harding Stadium.

New Officers Elected, Plans Laid for Season

By JOHN SHORT

Plans for the coming softball season moved forward last night with the annual organizational meeting of the Softball Commission held at the Y.M.C.A.

With the season scheduled to swing into action soon, the Commission set April 28 as the deadline for teams paying their entry fees. Entry fees will be raised $10 this year to cover increasing costs, the commission said. Teams in the Church Loop will be assessed a $40 fee while other teams will pay $50.

A player fee of 50 cents also will be assessed. Harold Smith, commission vice president, explained this was necessary to supplement the cost of a new public address system at Garfield Park. The fee will be paid prior to the start of the season.

Name Commission

An election of commission members was held during the banquet. Those named included Harold Smith, Darl Roseberry, Ralph King, Wesley Wilcox and John McKeever. They were elected to three-year terms. The five-member election was forced by the resignation of last year's commissioners.

Following the banquet, the Commission held an organizational meeting for the election of officers. Elected were Coxy Weiss, president; Harold Smith, vice president; Vern Miller, secretary; and Roy Waddell, treasurer. The commission also named three new members to increase the membership to 15 under a new rule adopted recently. The new commissioners are George Wood who was named to a one-year term, Harold Deitch to a two-year term and Leo Keller to a three-year term.

The commission set its next meeting for May 2 at 8 p.m. at the Y.M.C.A.

68 Attend

Rev. Harrison Ludwig, pastor of Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church, gave the invocation for last night's dinner meeting. Some 68 softball enthusiasts, mostly team representatives, attended.

Roy Waddell, volunteer treasurer of the commission, was presented a gift by Mr. Smith in appreciation of his services to the softball program. Mr. Waddell has served in the volunteer post for 23 years.

Mr. Waddell presented trophies to last year's league champions. They went to Don Moran of St. Mary No. 1, Church League champs, C. J. Roberts of the Marion Power Shovel, winners of the Industrial No. 1 crown, Hosey Williams of the Erie A. A., titlists in the Industrial Loop No. 2 and to Harold Smith of Smitty's All-Stars, winners of the Commercial Loop pennant and the Little World Series.

Rhubarb

Biggest rhubarb at the meeting was a proposal made by John McKeever of General-Alloy to allow postponements to Industrial teams in case of plant shutdowns for vacation periods. Mr. Miller, secretary, opposed the move and labeled it as "a disasterous move."

He pointed out that weather conditions probably would force several postponements and unnecessary ones would cause too much confusion on the schedules.

After proposals and counter-proposals from the floor, Mr. McKeever's suggestion was placed before the group and was voted down.

Church League: Wesley Methodist, Epworth Methodist, Church of the Brethren, Trinity Baptist, Greenwood, St. Mary No. 1 and No. 2. One opening remains and will be offered to Lee Street Presbyterian.

Commercial League: Smitty's All-Stars, G.I. Post, Bird-McGinnis, Knights of Columbus, K. & W., The Marion Star and Carl's Auto Parts. Silver Inn requested entry under a different sponsor. Their entry will be held pending a check of the roster by the commission.

Industrial League No. 1: Erie A.A., Marion Power Shovel, Pollak Steel, Osco, Engineer Depot, Huber, Universal Cooler and Marion Industries should Quaker Oats fail to fill their 1950 spot.

Industrial League No. 2: Monsanto, General-Alloy, McMillen Feed, Sohio, Fairfield, Postoffice, Jay Maish and Marion Metal.

Red Birds Lose To Minneapolis

By The Associated Press

Toledo and Kansas City have broken on top with two wins apiece to set the early pace in the American Association.

At Toledo 494 fans battering afternoon fans saw Alex DeLagarza slam a single—his fourth of the game—in the 10th inning to drive in the winning run for a 4-3 Mud Hen decision over St. Paul.

Kansas City handed Louisville its second loss, 2-1. Shortston Kid Secrist's hit, which took a bad hop, drove in Augie Bergamo, who had walked, from first base for the Blues' deciding tally in the ninth.

In last night's only other game, defending champion, Minneapolis, spoiled Columbus' opener before 13,054 home fans by taking a rollicking 14-7 triumph. The Millers belted 14 hits off four Red Bird hurlers and were handed 14 walks.

Bratton Has Easy Time With Williams

DETROIT, April 19—(AP)—Agile Johnny Bratton, N.B.A. welterweight champion, is all warmed up and ready for his May 18 title fight in New York against Kid Gavilan — and his hair isn't even mussed.

Bratton, a 23-year-old Negro, warmed up last night by stopping Don Williams, 23-year-old ex-Marine from Worcester, Mass., in the fourth round of their scheduled 10-round non-title bout at Olympia Stadium.

Williams wasn't able to disturb the Chicagoan's neatly-combed black hair. Meanwhile Brattons block-busting rights battered Williams' head and opened a deep gash over his left eye.

As the fourth round was about to start Referee Bobby Watson stopped the fight.

Bratton, who weighed 149, received 27½ percent of the net receipts, or about $1,587. Williams, weighing 151, received 22½ percent or approximately $1,298. Each fighter also received a $1,000 cut of the television receipts.

Bratton was making his first appearance since he won the title—N.B.A. version—from Charley Fusari last month.

Wounded 10 Times, Left To Die In Korea

Marion G.I. Tells of Narrow Escape in Korea

By EMORY J. ANDERSON

A Marion soldier who was struck ten times by enemy machinegun and rifle fire, then left to die in the bitter cold of North Korea, told of his harrowing experiences in combat on a weekend visit to the home of his parents.

It was Pvt. Beldin Corbin's first visit home since he joined the Army three years ago—a long awaited visit for his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Beldin Corbin of 217 North Grand avenue.

The 20-year-old infantryman has been in Army hospitals since November for treatment of his wounds and his feet, which were frozen after he and many of his buddies were felled by enemy gunfire in North Korea.

Caught In Ambush

Members of the 7th Infantry Regiment, which had pushed to within a few miles of the Manchurian border, they were caught in an ambush when the Chinese Reds entered the war.

With 68 other men in a truck he was being driven along a road south and east of the Changjin reservoir. A contingent of Chinese opened fire on the truck, which was in convoy, killing a number of the men and wounding most of the rest.

Pvt. Corbin was wounded in several places with the initial burst of fire, and the Reds swarmed down on the trucks, disarmed the men, and ordered them to line up to be taken prisoner.

Pvt. Corbin said he was kicked out of the truck by the Chinese. When he got outside he was ordered to line up, but being wounded and in pain he simply fell down. He said he couldn't stand.

The Chinese came over and looked at him, took his wallet and watch, but made no attempt to shoot him while he lay on the ground, he said. There were too many men in the group for the Chinese to take all of them prisoner so they had to be left in the cold barren country with the temperature 27 degrees below zero.

Many Wounded

Many of the men had been wounded, and some killed. Pvt. Corbin said he lay on the ground for a while, and then got up and tried to walk, only to have a sniper shoot at him several times, wounding him again. He finally crawled away from the ambush scene onto the ice of the nearby reservoir.

Pvt. Corbin said he was hit ten times by rifle and machinegun fire, in both legs, in the right arm and shoulder, buttocks and heel.

The ambush took place Nov. 29 and for 48 hours, Pvt. Corbin lay there on the ice. At first he didn't dare move and later, he became paralyzed from the waist down and couldn't move.

On Nov. 31 the 5th Marine regiment drove the Chinese away and picked up the survivors of the ambush and flew them to Japan where they were hospitalized.

He said that while lying on the reservoir ice he alternately gained and lost consciousness and if he had not been picked up when he was, he undoubtedly would have died right there.

Flown To Japan

After he was taken from Korea, Pvt. Corbin was flown to Japan for hospitalization. On Jan. 2 he was flown from Japan directly to a hospital in San Antonio, Texas, and after treatment there he was taken to Percy Jones Hospital in Battle Creek, Mich. on Jan. 4.

He has been there ever since. This is the first weekend he has been granted permission to leave the hospital to visit his parents. They drove to the hospital to pick him up and brought him to Marion Friday night. He had to be back at the hospital Sunday noon.

He has been able to walk with the aid of a cane. His two big toes and the middle toe on his left foot have had to be amputated.

He attended St. Mary High School before enlisting in the Army at the Marion Recruiting station Feb. 26, 1948. After enlisting he was sent to Fort Jackson, S. C. for training and then to Seattle, Wash., port of embarkation. He was sent to Japan where he was on occupation duty. He landed at Inchon with American forces Sept. 17.

PVT. BELDIN CORBIN, MARION G. I. who was wounded by Chinese Communist gunfire and then nearly frozen to death in North Korea, is pictured above on his first visit home since joining the Army three years ago. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Beldin Corbin of 217 North Grand avenue.

PROSPECT SERVICE

At St. Paul Lutheran Church at Prospect Sunday morning, the sermon topic will be "The Work of the Comforter." A delegation from the church will attend a Tri-county Luther League rally at Emanuel Lutheran Church in Marion Sunday afternoon.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

Whatever became of Dorothy Arnold, Judge Carter and Estes Kefauver?

Last night on a panel program somebody mentioned Kefauver and three people said "gesundheit" and went back to discussing MacArthur.

I hear Frankie Costello never will forgive Truman for waiting until after the crime hearings to take back the front pages.

Costello was an unwilling star until Truman began playing that five star picture which is with us for an unlimited run.

Gosh there are so many parades scheduled for MacArthur it's hard to figure whether he was recalled or rerouted.

Some figure the President made a mistake in bringing back a general who was three receptions behind . . . it's hard for one voice to be heard disagreeing with massed bands.

Nobody ever made the mistake of disciplining Babe Ruth too publicly when he was hitting 'em into the stands.

Utah Bragging About Its Climate

SALT LAKE CITY — (UP) — Utah need not take off its hat to Florida when it comes to hours of sunshine, winter or summer.

According to a survey of U. S. Weather Bureau records for the past half century, Utah residents can count on 125 to 200 hours of sunshine each December and January, compared with 175-200 hours in those months in Florida.

In summer, the analysis shows, Utahans receive 350-375 hours of sunshine per month, compared with an average of 275 hours per month in Florida.

Canadian officials believe that Canada, then New France, took the first census of modern times in 1666.

Life Insurance Is One Of Best Investments

By WESLEY DAVIS, PH.D
(Professor of Economics, University of Houston)

LET'S SUPPOSE that a life insurance company is selling $1,000 worth of life insurance for one year to each 1,000 men of the same age, occupation, and general health condition. Let's assume that the records show that one of these 1,000 men, we don't know which, will probably die within the year. To get the $1,000 to pay the man's beneficiaries, therefore, the company must charge each of the men $1. This illustrates all insurance.

Of course the company must charge each man a little more because the company must be compensated for its time and trouble. If the individual policies are to acquire any cash or loan value, the company must charge enough in addition to the dollar to make up these values. While actual companies offer various policies intended to meet all needs and desires, each person pays his portion of the costs to the company of supplying these various features.

The four basic, most common types of life insurance are: (1) term, (2) ordinary life, (3) limited-payment, (4) endowment.

TERM INSURANCE gives maximum protection at lowest cost, because the policy terminates at the end of a stated period of time. Also, it has no cash surrender or loan value. It especially fits the needs of a young couple with little children. The family needs maximum protection on the husband at a time when the family's ability to pay is lowest. If you buy term insurance, be sure that it is renewable for another term, or convertible eventually into a more permanent type of policy.

With the ordinary life type of policy (sometimes known as whole life or straight life), payments continue throughout the life of the insured, and protection continues until death. This is the most popular type of insurance. Next to term insurance, it is cheapest.

More expensive is the limited-payment type of policy. Your payments are ended after a specified number of years, although protection continues throughout your life. This policy will have a cash surrender and loan value.

IF YOU WISH to invest your savings with an insurance company, and commit yourself to save a definite sum regularly, you will do well to buy an endowment type of policy, or an annuity. The endowment policy acquires full cash value in a certain number of years, except if you die beforehand, the full value is paid to your beneficiaries. With an annuity, the company pays you stated amounts at definite intervals during your life.

Be sure to discuss endowments and annuities with your agent when you plan your insurance program. This program should be re-evaluated periodically to be sure that it still fits your needs, for your needs will change as your income changes and as your children grow up.

TAKE ADVANTAGE of any opportunity to buy low-cost group insurance, and remember that you cannot possibly afford to insure yourself for enough to bring your family in the event of your death, the amount of money you would have earned through the years if you had lived. About the most you can do is provide the family with insurance equal to your income for one, two, or a few years. Such will give them time, if need be, to adjust and work out their own financial problems.

The family bread-winner is the one who ought to be insured first and last. Losing him is the thing the family needs protection against. The young wife has additional protection if she has some form of business training or perhaps a teacher's certificate. With these she can earn a living if she has to.

The man who buys life insurance buys protection for his family.

Object Lesson for Japan

IF THE Japanese really want to learn about popular government, they must be reconciled to the removal of Gen. MacArthur as their idol. Otherwise, the incident may break their political morale, despite the best efforts of John Foster Dulles and Gen. Ridgway to reassure them about the future.

It has dawned on a great many thoughtful people these last few days that the not-so-innocent bystander in the collision between Washington and Gen. MacArthur was Japan. Its people hardly can be expected to grasp the circumstances which robbed them suddenly of the symbol of their finest hopes.

Yet they must try to grasp them as part of their preparation for future responsibility. They are apparently going to imitate the republicanism of the United States. One of its characteristics is the unexpected. And another is the extreme difficulty of reaching collective decisions without giving all the appearances of a revolution.

The Japanese must understand that the clash between Washington and Gen. MacArthur is part of that difficulty. The United States has been uncertain about Asia. It still is. Gen. MacArthur has come home to help Americans make up their minds. His homecoming has been deeply controversial. It certainly was arranged awkwardly and is having some awkward consequences. But that, too, is part of the lesson—that popular government is composed of controversy and rarely rises above its impulse to tread heavily when approaching momentous decisions.

If the Japanese watch closely, they may learn more about the art of government through this incident that has left them puzzled and disheartened than could be learned out of a million textbooks.

Testimony by Experts

THE Ohio General Assembly committee to investigate subversion got an earful from two of Cleveland's top union executives last Tuesday.

The two men were expert witnesses. Both learned about Communists by fighting them from the inside out. But there was a significant omission in their testimony.

They said they were hot and bothered because some employers still have contracts with unions dominated by Communists. But they had nothing to say about the good old days when the federal government helped union organizers to raid Communist-dominated unions down the throats of employers.

In those days, anyone who suggested that Communists were fouling up the labor movement was called a labor-baiter. If he was an employer, he was cited by a crowd of pinkie pals in Washington for an unfair labor practice. The country was supposed to forget that John L. Lewis had called in Communists to help organize C.I.O. and had left them riding high, wide and handsome when he abdicated. As one of the Cleveland union executives told the investigating committee, C.I.O. headquarters in Cleveland used to be known as "The Kremlin." But anyone who said so in the good old days was likely to get his skull cracked.

Political Justice

COMPARISONS with the Lincoln-McClellan situation are popular at the moment, though the Truman-MacArthur circumstances are not identical.

But there are, perhaps, some lessons to be learned from history.

Gen. McClellan was removed from his command by President Lincoln for putting his own interpretation on presidential orders to take the offensive early in 1862. The net result of this action was to make it appear that McClellan's commander-in-chief was in favor of doing something which his general in command of the Army of the Potomac was unwilling to do. He was relieved of his command before the end of the year.

Harper's Weekly, fully aware of the political implications of the friction between McClellan and Lincoln, reviewed the circumstances of the war which had forced the President to act, then reached this conclusion:

"Both the people and the army are too intent upon the great work of suppressing the rebellion to trouble themselves about side issues. After the war there will be time to inquire into and pass judgment upon them, and then, if injustice has been done to McClellan, he will probably be elected president."

The Democrats nominated him in 1864. The campaign slogan was "Abe removed McClellan; now we'll remove Abe." It did not work out that way. McClellan was soundly defeated.

Gen. Bradley's Speech

By David Lawrence

Evidence of Administration Unfairness

WASHINGTON

IF ANYTHING were needed to prove how uneven and unfair the Truman Administration has been in trying to apply to General MacArthur its so-called rules or orders about public speeches, a reading of the speech just made by General Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, supplies that need.

For General Bradley, though disclaiming that he is making a foreign policy speech, goes on to make a speech which is identical in subject matter with the statements of General MacArthur.

LAWRENCE

General Bradley, however, utters the "party line"—the views the Administration wants the general to propagate. Presumably they are the honest convictions of General Bradley and are not affected by any fear that, if he expressed himself otherwise, he, too, might be fired.

So what America sees now is a system whereby only what the government puts out can be spoken. There is no such thing evidently as a pro and con debate by the military men about our military situation in the world. They can only say what they are told to say. Hence much of what they do say will be discounted as political in the sense of following a "party line" and not really a military judgment on subjects on which there are obvious differences of opinion. The people will never get the truth that way.

GENERAL BRADLEY himself, was contradictory. After noting that the Communists in Korea were building up for another drive, he said in his speech:

"There is no assurance that even when this attack is dispelled that the war will be over."

Having, therefore, confirmed what General MacArthur has been saying — namely, that a "stalemate" is in prospect unless American troops can defend themselves against air attack by bombing the enemy bases — General Bradley goes on to say:

"If at all possible, Korea should be settled on the present battleground."

But who will assure any settlement in any place? The enemy which is building up its drive as immunity is given to its own air bases in Manchuria, or the U.N. forces who are compelled to stand still and take day-by-day punishment without moving forward to win a victory? What soldier ever advocated such a doctrine before to explain 60,000 casualties?

General Bradley doesn't seem to take account of anything the enemy may do to our troops in Korea, as most soldiers would, but simply contents himself with the statement: "Fundamentally we Americans are apt to become impatient with a situation that has no foreseeable conclusion. We all would like to know when the war in Korea will be over."

THAT'S A MASTERPIECE of understatement. It reflects the whole floundering viewpoint of Administration today. For General Bradley has no answer except "to continue negotiation in this world-wide conflict as long as possible."

General Bradley takes his political cue directly from Mr. Truman in making the following observation:

"Enlarging the battle to a full-scale war is never an economical or morally acceptable solution to a limited conflict."

But who limits the conflict? The aggressors who are supposed to be defeated or the defenders who are supposed to stand still indefinitely?

The plain implication is that General MacArthur deliberately wants to provoke a large-scale war. There is not a word of proof to back up such an allegation. General Bradley makes a serious mistake in swallowing the political chatter of the Administration when he adopts the assumption that our troops in Korea are to be attacked but not permitted to defend themselves with maximum force.

THE CROWNING IRONY of General Bradley's speech is in this disclaimer:

"In outlining my thoughts on this matter, I have no intention of entering the foreign policy field or even urging a particular policy in the conduct of foreign affairs. Conduct of foreign affairs is a civilian responsibility. But a soldier can often see strategic perils that the layman might overlook."

General MacArthur, too, saw those perils. He also claimed that he was discussing not "foreign policy" but only "military policy" and its "strategic perils." But he was fired because he ventured to differ. He didn't know that in America freedom to speak by government officials was accorded only to those who follow the "party line."

Some day the "Voice of America" had better re-examine the glowing things it says about the virtues of Free America and concede it is talking fiction when it says an opposition view is not suppressed in America and that "purges can't happen here."

A Sight Worth Seeing

By TRUMAN TWILL

NOTHING in the uproar of the last few days has been more exciting than a report that an organization of ladies in an eastern state intended to march on Washington over the Truman-MacArthur affair.

That would have been a sight worth seeing.

Marching on Washington has become a lost art. The last time it was done with a flourish, the commies were behind it, with plenty of encouragement from the Democratic high command because the outcome of a presidential election was likely to be affected. That was the so-called "bonus march" in the closing days of the Hoover administration.

The army chief of staff at that time, Douglas A. MacArthur, had no illusions about the setup. He knew that all those people had not arrived in Washington by accident or because of any issue about the soldiers' bonus. It was an attempt to embarrass the government of the United States. So when Gen. MacArthur was told by his commander in chief that it was his job to keep order in the capital, he wasted no time carrying out the assignment. It was his first brush with Kremlin stooges.

For his pains he was smeared by the commies and lambasted by the Democrats, who saw a chance to hurt Mr. Hoover by making his chief of staff look like an ogre. It was played up to a fare-thee-well—and undoubtedly helped to give the administration in office at the time a black eye. Since then, there have been so-called "marches" on Washington, but they were frosts. Mostly, the marchers came in by train and did all their marching in the space of a few blocks after arrival.

But the eastern ladies (who quickly thought better of it) were going to march on Washington a la Coxey, who hoofed it all the way from Ohio only to get pinched for walking on the White House lawn when he arrived. These ladies were going to hay-foot-straw-foot until they reached the capital. To be sure, they lived in nearby Maryland, a relatively short distance away, but it's the principle of the thing that matters. Most of them had walked no further than the corner drugstore in years.

It is a pity their project blew up, a pity because the only people who march on Washington any more are pinks who hop rattlers and buzz down from New York City every whipstich. Most of the time they probably do not even know what they are "marching" for. They just grab the placards someone hands to them and start looking for a photographer.

The ladies would have been a novelty. They were the McCoy. It would have been a treat to know that among all the people "marching" on Washington were a few who could not be suspected of being anything but old-fashioned Americans with blood in their eye.

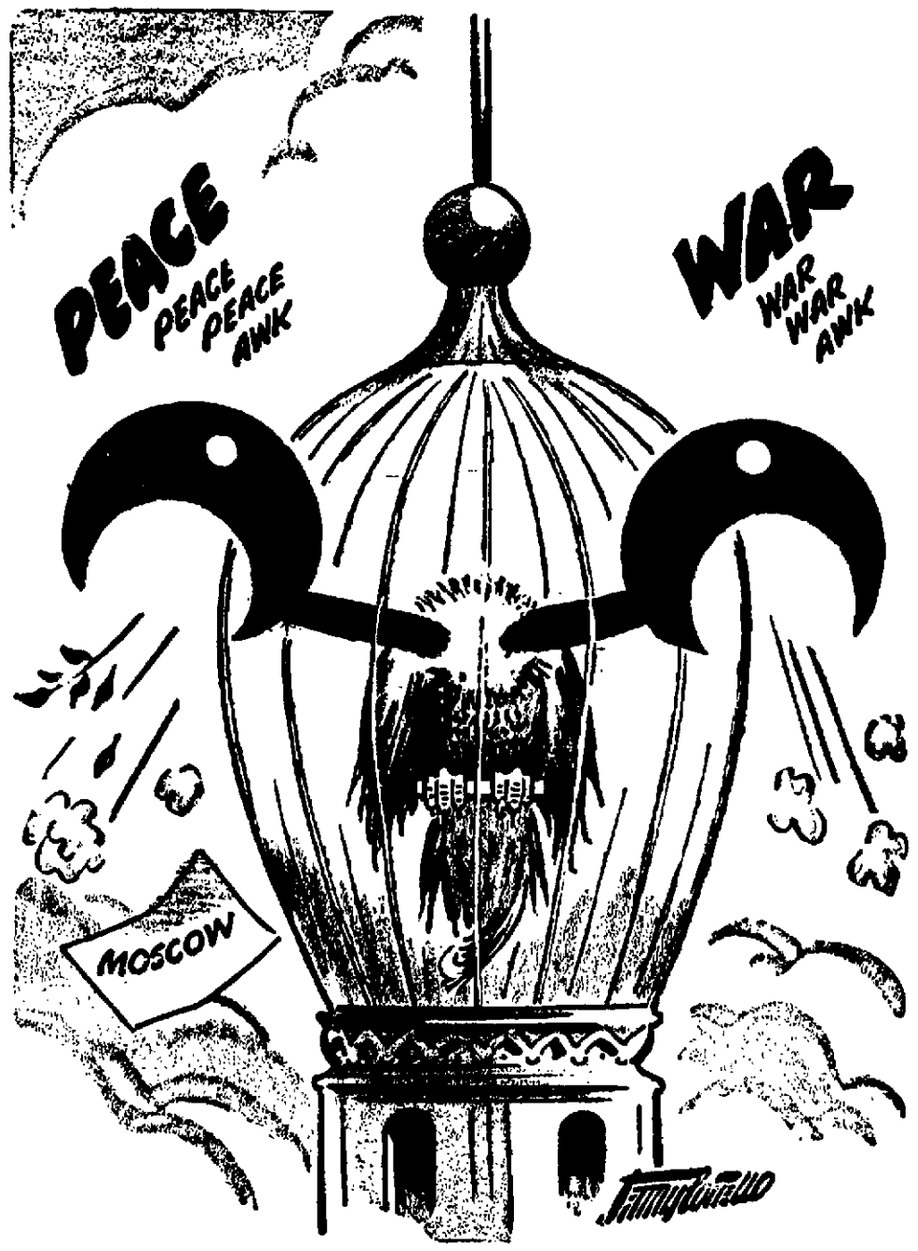
The Two-Headed Parrot



War or Peace in the Balance

By Walter Lippmann

A DAY or so after the news broke, I found myself in a small group of men which included a distinguished officer who knows General MacArthur well and had worked closely with him during the war. The officer said nothing while the rest of us worried out loud about the events which had led to such a crackup and about the consequences at home and abroad of the disunity and feverish division which it threatened to bring about.

LIPPMANN

Then the officer spoke up, saying that he thought we might be wrong and that we were underestimating MacArthur. This in effect is what he said:

Like many other great men, MacArthur knows himself to be an historic figure cast for a part, which will long be remembered, in the history of his times. Woodrow Wilson was like that. So in its most magnificent form is Churchill. So was, and perhaps is De Gaulle.

MEN OF THIS KIND, he went on to say, can make mistakes. They can be ornery and what have you. But they have a sense of history and of the great moments, and of being seen not only by the living but by the illustrious dead and by the generations to come, and by themselves. And when these great moments come, they can act only in the grand style.

"I'll bet you that MacArthur," he said, "will deliver an address to Congress which will be the paragon of the great soldier in a republic — something for school children to memorize for the next hundred years. I just cannot imagine Douglas MacArthur standing in the spotlight of history and challenging the authority of the President of the United States, or lending himself to some kind of partisan rumpus."

When the officer had finished talking, no one said anything more. Each of us felt, I imagine, that he must be right if the times are not desperately out of joint.

THE COUNTRY, though divided by the controversy, is agreed that before the debate begins it will welcome and pay tribute to the soldier and statesman whose victories and achievements are above the controversy. The country is agreed also that the differences between Gen. MacArthur and his superiors must now be thoroughly and—within the limits of national security—publicly examined at firsthand.

The country has had enough, much too much, of indirect quotation and second-hand information on what the general wishes to do that he has not been permitted or given the means to do. The country has had interviews and speeches—ad nauseum—from visitors who have been in his presence, professing with indeterminate authority to speak for Gen. MacArthur. The country has had millions of words spoke in Congress, printed in the newspapers and broadcast by radio and television on his foreign policy and on his strategy. The country has also had public statements from the general, all of them emphatic and none of them sufficiently specific.

NOW THE COUNTRY will wish to hear from Gen MacArthur in person, directly and fully on his own views and directly and responsively in reply to serious and honest questions.

In the conduct of this investigation many Americans—let us hope they are all the Americans who have any part to play in the investigation — will realize and never allow themselves to forget what an extraordinary and dangerous thing such an investigation is.

We are on the eve of what may be a tremendous battle or the beginnings of a negotiated truce. The issue of war or peace hangs in the balance. The implications of every act and of every official statement are enormous and the stakes are incalculable. This government, which has the first responsibility in the free world, must find its way through a maze of life and death. It must do that infinitely difficult thing abroad while at home the very fundamentals of its policy, indeed at times the very integrity of its purposes, are the subject of a violent party struggle.

YET THE PUBLIC investigation must be had. For, however fearful the evil that could come of it, the evil that would come of not bringing the issues into the light of day and meeting them squarely would be greater. At best the outcome in Korea will be disappointing. At worst it could be tragic, even catastrophic. But we must not enter the dark valley believing that there was some other way, which would have had a brighter ending, had we but listened.

The General Comes Home

By George E. Sokolsky

IT WOULD be unfortunate if the return of General Douglas MacArthur means nothing more than a personal wrangle between President Truman and the General, or even a political quarrel between Republicans and Democrats.

Much more is at stake. Let us restate some of the issues:

1. Europe versus Asia: The United States is actually at war in Asia, costing already about 60,000 casualties, including about 10,000 dead. In Europe, we are not actually at war but are preparing a political action of some 12 nations involving a defensive but not an offensive alliance.

SOKOLSKY

The issue is: shall the United States pull in its horns in the Asiatic action in order to extend itself in Europe?

2. In Asia, how long can the United States fight a limited war, at great loss, without permitting an all-out attack in a stalemated war?

3. Two governments exist in China: Nationalist China in Formosa; Soviet China on the mainland. The United States recognizes Nationalist China; so does the United Nations: but Great Britain recognizes Soviet China and labors for Stalin's satellite.

HOW CAN THIS paradox be resolved, as it must be? How can Great Britain maintain troops in Korea, where Soviet China is fighting the Americans and the British and the United Nations—and at the same time support the diplomacy of Soviet China?

4. The position of President Truman is that we lack the manpower to maintain large forces in Korea and at the same time send forces to Europe. Why then do

Marion County History Brevities

Probably the best collection of American antiquities in Marion County was made by the industrious hands of Ferdinand C. Ruehrmund of the village of Marion. His specimens are all numbered, catalogued, and scientifically arranged, and he was able to give visitors information besides many of the theories of antiquarians. Spearheads were found mostly in the east and west forks of the Whetstone River, and near some ancient mounds east of the village of Caledonia.

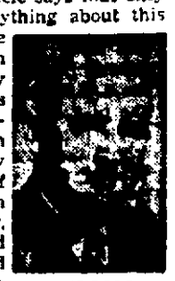
Emil and Earmarking

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA

DEAR BABE:

What goes with United Nations? I just read where all members will be requested to state what they have done about earmarking help for us over in Korea. The article says that only a few nations have done anything about this matter and that they will be told "any information, even tentative, will be welcomed by the U.N. Collective Measures Committee. I sure was surprised to know that, although it is almost a year since they voted for this war, many of the 60 nations have not even got around to earmarking, which is a three-syllable word meaning "How many men and when?" The article says, "Diplomats admitted most countries had not yet made plans for earmarking." In other words they have not only not got down to doing their earmarking but have not even made plans for it, despite the 60,000 casualties over here under the U.N. flag! What goes? And who is sitting this one out cool and ca'm-like?



PHILLIPS

Get a load of that "any information, even tentative, will be welcome." And how! I will settle for some tentative earmarking on account if we could use help, even in the egg. But I hope it will not be too tentative. If it took from June to almost May to get something tentative in the works how long will it take to get some help that will be definite, positive and visible to a naked eye? I like to feel the earmarkers are behind me, but not too far.

The Collective Measures Committee is sending out a questionnaire to all U.N. members and I hope it asks these questions:

1—Are you kidding or not?

2—Are you for me in May 1951 as you were in June 1950?

3—Is ten months too short a time between sending your friends into a war and getting in it yourself?

4—What have you done to support the Korean hassel except to take off your hat to the U.N. flag and keep your debating voice in good shape?

5—Are you short of earmarkers or are they all out to lunch?

6—Could you make it a little snappy, as the going is rugged and every little bit helps?

7—Are you aware that U.N. is a world organization for collective security, into a social club with active membership optional and rain checks in case of storms?

I think the questionnaires should be accompanied by a few snapshots including the Turkish troops in action. Turkey is one small nation that didn't vote the other fellow in and then stay out itself. It might be a good idea also to send some snapshots of the white crosses over the American dead and others. I admit not every member of U.N. can give much help, but it seems to me even the smallest could manage to send over a couple of men, a male and maybe earmark some bunion plasters, army blankets and cigarets. Sergeant Mooney says all they've been earmarking is debating teams.

Me? I never felt so earmarked in my life. And how are you? Well, anyhow, lots of love and let me know if you notice any early earmarking around Lake Success or the East River?

Your ever-loving

EMIL

P.S.—I miss you so much I would do most anything to get home and am even thinking of writing a letter criticizing Harry Truman so he will recall me.

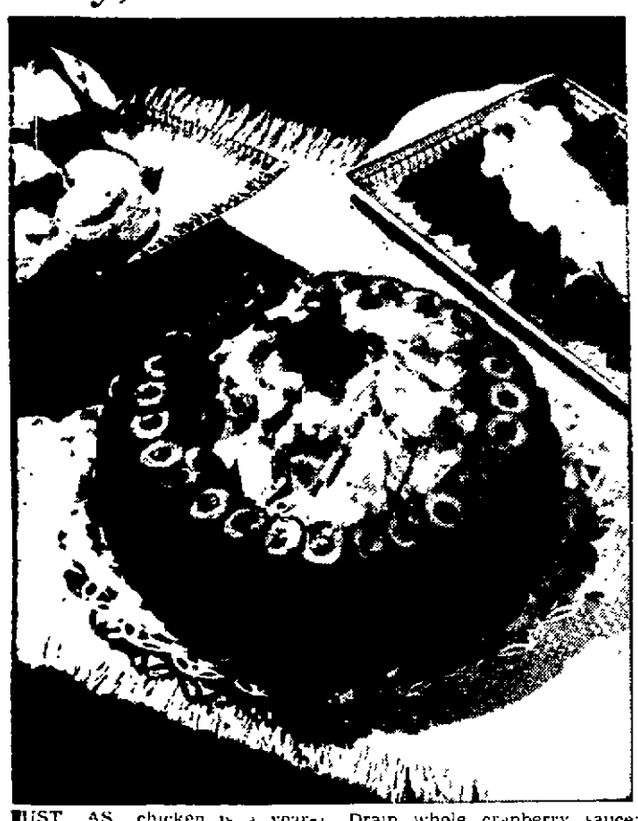
Berry, Chicken Salad Treat



JUST AS chicken is a year-round favorite, so is colorful cranberry sauce. With the spotlight on a recipe that combines both of them, like this attractive cranberry ring mold filled with chicken salad, you're bound to receive twice the usual compliments. At a time when the battle of the budget is uppermost in the minds of most homemakers, it's inexpensive, too.

Complete your menu by serving buttered hot asparagus and hot corn muffins with the cranberry-chicken salad. Add some good hot coffee, freshly baked cake and sherbet and your dinners on its way to becoming famous.

CRANBERRY SALAD RING

- 2 pound cans whole cranberry sauce
- 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
- 1 cup unstrained orange juice
- 6 T lemon juice
- ½ cup chopped pecans
- ½ cup sliced stuffed olives
- Olives (for decoration)

Drain whole cranberry sauce; soften gelatin in ½ cup liquid drained from whole cranberry sauce. Place cup with gelatin mixture in pan of boiling water and heat until gelatin is dissolved. Add orange and lemon juices, pecans, olives, and dissolved gelatin to cranberry sauce. Chill until syrupy. Slice olives in bottom of ring mold, slightly overlapping. Then spoon gelatin carefully over sliced olives. Chill until firm enough to unmold. Unmold on lettuce-filled tray and fill center with well-seasoned chicken salad.

REVIVAL TO OPEN

Revival services will open at the Espyville Church next week, with Rev. Charles Williamson of Columbus, known as the "boy evangelist," preaching, beginning Monday night. These services will continue through May 6. Preaching of the "old fashioned Gospel" and special singing will be featured each night, Rev. Howard Hughes, pastor, stated.

Retailers Hear OPS Official

Forty-five retailers of the Marion area attended a meeting Tuesday night at Harding High School sponsored by the Columbus Office of Price Stabilization and arranged by the Marion Chamber of Commerce.

Phil Sheridan, business analyst of the consumer goods division of the Columbus OPS District, addressed the group on the new Amendment 2 of Price Regulation 7.

He explained that Price Regulation 7 affected merchandise ordinarily offered for sale in apparel, shoe, furniture and floor covering stores and 75 percent of the merchandise handled by department stores but the new amendment extends the list of merchandise to include merchandise of jewelry stores and retailers of musical instruments, radios, phonographs, television sets, phonograph records, kitchen cutlery, household cleaning brushes, small electrical appliances, general housewares, general notions, luggage, sporting goods, hardware and drugs.

The hour and three-quarter meeting was attended by a group of retailers, predominantly hardware and jewelry store men, from Marion, Delaware, Mt. Gilead, Upper Sandusky and Radnor.

Concert Nets $395, Band Parents Hear

The sum of $394.70 was reported realized from the Harding High School band and orchestra concerts this year when the Band and Orchestra Parents Association met Monday night at Harding School. The report was given by Harry Kaelber, treasurer.

Plans were announced for a rummage sale to be held May 4-5 in the Palace Theater building, in charge of Mrs. George Wilson, and for the annual tag day sale to be held May 11-12. This project will be in charge of Ray Donough.

The association voted to sponsor sending the orchestra to the state finals contest to be held April 28 at Capital University in Columbus. The orchestra became eligible to take part in the state event by receiving a superior rating in a district event held recently. The association also discussed plans for disposing of the old band uniforms.

For the program, selections were presented by two ensemble groups, the string quartet and the clarinet quartet. Members of the string group are Phyllis Huffman, Wilma Goebel, Stephen Lacey and John Gantt. They played "Sarabande" by Bach and "Quartet No. 1" by Beethoven. The clarinet ensemble, composed of Peggy McWilliams, Joyce Parr, Bill Young and Erman Seckel, played "Tea For Two" and Stout Hearted Men."

Thousands of folks suffering from such conditions have found a real and lasting answer to their problems with today's great HADACOL.

Mrs. Fannie E. Rowe, Route 2 Hot Springs, Arkansas, writes "I found no relief, until I heard HADACOL advertised. I decided to give it a trial. I suffered from indigestion and gas after each meal. And after taking HADACOL only about three days my food began to digest wonderfully. I suffered no more gas pains. Now I can say thanks to HADACOL. I am 70 years old and strong and healthy and able to work every day, all day."

Organized In 1916

Organized in 1916 under the leadership of Mrs. E. H. Bindley, the Delphian Club became a part of the federation in 1917. It was formed for the purpose of literary pursuits, intellectual culture and social intercourse. Mrs. George Neely was the first president. The club has continued with its original purpose through the years by means of its group study and cooperation with other groups in the city. In the past, the club has given public plays and at one time a "colonial" quartet made public appearances.

From time to time the club has added civic enterprises to its work, included in which have been the planting of trees, sending gifts to overseas soldiers during the first World War, making surgical dressings and doing Red Cross and canteen duty in the second war, the sale of articles made by the blind, sending gifts to the girls at Scioto Village and the latest project, that of war veterans service for patients at the Chillicothe hospital.

Entries in are art exhibit, in charge of Mrs. Don McQuate, included oil and water paints, figurines, raffia work, hammered aluminum, hand crocheted pieces, embroidery and other hand work. Also shown were articles of Mexican handwork gathered by Mrs. O. C. Schlientz on her recent trip to Mexico.

In turning the gavel over to Mrs. W. G. Wheeler, the new president, in the business session, Mrs. Flockencier read an original poem in tribute to the club. Program booklets outlining the new year's study on "The World Today," which will begin with the club season in October, were discussed. Devotions were by Mrs R. I. Butterworth.

Officers serving with Mrs. Wheeler in the new year will be Mrs. G. G. Neutzel, vice president, Mrs. E. W. Warwick, secretary, Miss Mayetta Anselment, corresponding secretary, Mrs. Uhl, treasurer, Mrs. Chaney, critic, and Mrs. Roland Leeper, Mrs. Williamson and Mrs. Flockencier, members of the program committee.

Committee chairmen include Mrs. Don McQuate, art, Mrs. Hootman, American citizenship and international relations, Mrs. Uhl, finance, Mrs. Sager, investigating, Mrs. Chaney, literature and education, Mrs. S. J. Martin, memorial, Mrs. Grover C. Snyder, motion picture and radio, Mrs. O. C. Schlientz, music, Mrs. A. W. McColley, patroness, Mrs. Detwiler, safety and American home, Mrs. H. M. For the luncheon, served buffet style, the tables were centered with bouquets of yellow jonquils. Favors were vari-colored gumdrops arranged as flowers in baskets and hand painted booklets with original verse by Mrs. Frank Detwiler. Mrs. Chaney, social chairman, was assisted by Mrs. J. J. Stafford and Mrs. Roland Leeper. Assisting the committee with floral arrangements was Miss Mary Jo Stafford.

Marion Garden Center Notes

HEALTHIER HOUSE PLANTS

Individual potted plants must have humidified air in order to be healthy. The plant can be set within a large water proof container. The space between then filled with moss or some moisture holding material. Keep this material damp. This water evaporation provides humidity and is what the plant needs. Pebbles under the inner pot keeps soil from getting waterlogged. Use waterproof plant trays for window gardening.

Test your plants for additional water by rubbing the soil between your fingers. If the soil pulverizes the plant needs water and if it cakes no water is required.

Women's Group Hears Discussion On Education

EDUCATION was the theme of a meeting of the University Women's Association Tuesday night at the Marion Country Club, with Dr. George A. Bowman, president of Kent State University, as speaker. The club voted endorsement of the school bond issue.

Miss Mary Katharine Smith presided, and Mrs. Rayl Conyers introduced the speaker. He is a former superintendent of the Marion schools. His topic was "Some Emerging Trends in Education."

In his talk, he told of the many developments in the field of education within the last 40 years as seen through his own personal experience. He stressed the fact that growing interest among citizens has made for "sounder and saner procedures" in the school system.

"It is only through the teachers, who must have good ideas of democracy themselves, that we can be sure of our children developing into good Americans," he said. He expressed strong belief that the educational level of people must be increased even more than in the past. A social hour followed.

KING'S DAUGHTERS MEET

The Friendship Circle of King's daughters met at the home of Mrs. Lulu Spain at 236 West Pleasant street Tuesday night. Devotions were led by Mrs. Leona Sanderson. A rummage sale will be held May 3 in the Palace Theater building, it was announced. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Accordionist Held As Draft Evader

LOS ANGELES, April 19—(AP) Dick Contino, 21, $4,000-a-week accordionist arrested as a draft evader, says he ran away from an army camp because a doctor threatened "to throw me in the guardhouse."

Contino was arraigned yesterday on a charge of failure to report for induction and released on $5,000 bond.

Contino disappeared from Fort Ord, near Monterey, Calif., last Friday, the day before he was scheduled to be inducted. He surrendered to federal authorities yesterday.

Bill To Halt Basketball Fix Up For Vote

COLUMBUS, April 19—(AP)—The state Senate votes today on a bill to halt basketball fix before it happens.

The measure is simply an extension of Ohio's sports bribery law. Present law applies only to professional sports. The bill up for Senate vote extends to law to amateurs.

And, while present law applies only to the fixer and the fixed where there is an agreement to "throw" a game, the bill sponsored by Sen. Anthony J. Celebrezze (D-Cleveland) hits at agreements to limit the margin of victory.

This is the "point-spread" basis for wagering on basketball games — the kind of bribery which has resulted in the recent New York basketball scandals.

House committees yesterday recommended passage of two major money bills. One increases Gov. Frank Lausche's budget by about $3,156,000 for operation of the state government for the next two years. The other raises the money to cover the budget boost.

The money-raising bill is the Senate-approved measure by Sen. C. Stanley Mechem (R-Athens). It seeks to bring an estimated $20,000,000 additional each year into the state coffers tightening the present three-percent sales tax law enforcement and by imposing the tax on private sales of used autos.

The taxation committee left the Mechem bill practically unchanged as it sent the measure to the House floor.
